FRENCH SUCCESSES.

LONDON, December 3.—A telegram dated Tours, Dec. 2, says: It was officially stated to-night that one or two days must yet elapse before the fruits of the movements in progress will be fully reaped. Up to this time the most complete success has attended the successive steps taken. Every movement brings nearer each other the armies of the Loire and Paris.

OFFICIAL NEWS ONLY TO BE PUBLISHED.

Advices from Paris to December 2d, state that an order has been issued to the effect that military movements and particulars not sanctioned by the government officials are not to be published on pain of suppression.

THE FIGHT OF FRIDAY.

LONDON, December 3.—A special dispatch from Brussels to-day says: The Germans yesterday made a desperate effort to drive Ducrot's army, which held all the villages on the east bank of the Marne from Noisy le Grand to Ormesson, back across the river. For that purpose, at daylight yesterday the Twenty-eighth Army Corps, under the Duke of Saxony, and a division of Wurtembergers, sixty thousand in all, made a furious assault in four columns, advancing on the French position at Brie and Champegny from the east, northeast and southwest. Ducrot withdrew within the peninsula formed by a curve of the Marne directly opposite Bois de Vincennes, thus covering the flanks by the stream.

AWFUL SLAUGHTER.

As the Germans advanced to the attack they were met by a terrible fire from forts Nogent and Rosny and the redoubt Arion. The slaughter was fearful. The German troops wavered, but were soon rallied by their officers, who were themselves shot down in great numbers. The first brigade of the second division (Saxon troops) lost all their officers. At noon a large column of fresh troops from Paris crossed the bridges near Brie and drove the Germans some distance eastward. At three o'clock firing ceased, the French returning near the east bank of the river and not recrossing it, but holding all the bridges. Losses on both sides were very large. The German losses were greatest on account of their sustaining the fire of the forts and attacking the French in their chosen positions.

BALLOON PARIS NEWS.

TOURS, Dec. 3.—A balloon from Paris descended near Lemons. It left that city on the 1st inst. and brings the following news: The French troops kept the position they took in the sortie on the 29th and 30th, and were preparing to vigorously prosecute offensive movements. General Vinoy held a position greatly in advance of General Ducrot. The latter was stopped owing to a sudden rise in the river, brought about by the Prussians breaking away a dam, and not on account of any resistance offered by the Prussians. The Prussians re took Champegny, but the French again took it. The Prussians and not the French demand a truce to bury their dead. The army of the Loire made a successful forward movement to-day. All railways in this part of the country have ceased temporarily to take passengers, owing to the enormous movement of troops.

A FRENCH DEFEAT.

LONDON, December 3.—The Duke of Mecklenburg makes the following report: "Yesterday morning a battle commenced near Bozeeches Les Hautes. After a hot fight the Fifteenth French Army Corps were defeated and driven back to Artheny. The French Army Corps were driven beyond Sorgeley. Several hundred prisoners and eleven guns were taken. The enemy's loss was considerable. Our loss is unknown, but much smaller than the enemy's."

CONCENTRATION OF PRUSSIANS.

TOURS, December 3.—The Prussians are concentrating at Etampes, twenty miles south of Paris, to dispute the advance of General de Aurelles de Paladines.

Prince Frederick Charles has left Pithiviers.

FRANC-TIREURS MAKING THEIR MARK.

LILLE, December 3—Evening.—General Ducrot is now seeking to effect a junction with General de Paladines.

Franc-tireurs have repulsed the Prussians at Tremblay.

THE CAPTURE OF BRIE.

LONDON, December 4.—The fighting at Brie on Friday was very severe, the Germans being exposed to a steady fire from the French forts, but at three in the afternoon the French retired, leaving behind many prisoners.

Brie, though abandoned by the French, has not been occupied by the Germans.

The French wounded who have fallen into the hands of the besiegers, refuse the offer to be sent back to Paris.

The German leaders are losing much confidence in consequence of recent military events.

Prince George of Saxony, in a dispatch to the King of Saxony, states that Brie and Champegny have been recaptured, although the French brought heavy masses into action. He admits that the Saxons suffered grievously.

ARMY OF THE LOIRE.

TOURS, Friday night, December 2.—The movement of the army of the Loire continues, and there are frequent encounters all along the line of the advance, without marked advantage on either side. In one of them, Gen. Souma was wounded, and failing, taken prisoner. This checked the momentary advance of the 17th Corps, which, however, held its positions.

The morale of the troops are excellent, and the French are confident of success.

FRENCH REPULSE THE PRUSSIANS.

The second attack was made on Austen by the Prussians, and was repulsed with considerable loss to the assailants. The enemy continue their retreat from the north.

EVACUATION OF AMIENS.

LILLE, December 4.—The evacuation of Amiens by the Germans is confirmed. The enemy, as they retired, blew up the bridge between Albert and Acheux, to protect their retreat.

Nothing has since been heard of General Meynteuffel, and there is little doubt that he has abandoned his march north and is hastening with his forces to Paris.

OFFICIAL FROM TOURS.

TOURS, December 4.—The Government makes the following announcement: The Army of the Loire has discontinued the forward movements, owing to the resistance of the enemy, who has concentrated large masses of troops between Pithiviers, Artheny and Angerville. The army occupies strongly entrenched positions, in which it will remain for the present, postponing an advance until a better opportunity is offered. In the meantime Gen. Ducrot, with the army which he led out of Paris, is disengaged, and will be able to act more freely, not finding before him the masses of the enemy which it was supposed were going to meet him, but which were really retained north of Orleans.

PRUSSIAN AND FRENCH ACCOUNTS.

LONDON, Dec. 4.—The Tribune correspondent at Versailles, Dec. 1st, writes: The sortie yesterday against the Wurtemburg division, east of Paris, between the Seine and Marne rivers, resulted in leaving the French in possession of the villages above Brie sur Marne. The Germans say they must retake these at any cost. The French at one time occupied a line to the right and left of Ormesson. They were driven back with heavy loss from this their most advanced position. The Wurtembergers were supported by a brigade of the Second Pomeranian Corps, the Crown Prince's old Corps, and part of the Sixth Corps. Both sides fought hard. The French were led by dismounted officers of high rank, and showed something of their traditional fire. Had not the Wurtembergers been very steady while being driven back, and had not the Prussians arrived promptly to their support, the investment of the line might have been broken. The French merely gained a better foothold for their future spring. Their great want is space to deploy their forces.

ANOTHER HARD FIGHT.

A very hard fight took place the same day north of St. Denis. The French sallied out against the Fourth Prussian Corps. The attack was repulsed, and prisoners taken by the Prussians. The loss of the French was heavy, including seventeen officers. Frederick Charles' operation, though not unsuccessful, was much hindred by heavy roads. The army is fatigued by long marches to-day.

ALL QUIET BEFORE PARIS.

All is quiet in the southern front of Paris.

THE FIRST SHELL.

The first shell was fired into the city, yesterday, from the Bavarian batteries, near Chatillon. It was accidental. The Crown Prince has ordered the use of no more guns at present at such a range.

If the French try more sorties there will probably be a sharp attack on the outlying defenses of the city.

THE RUSSIAN QUESTION.

Odo Russell continues to receive most emphatic assurances of the neutrality of Prussia on the Eastern question.

The Tribune's correspondent at Pesth, December 1st, writes: Constantinople advices say that the Porte is likely to accept the conference under the conditions proposed by Austria and England.

Baron Von Beust was before the Budget Committee of the Austrian delegation to-day and made a peaceful address—he hoped for a realization of the conference under necessary guarantees, and expected a unanimity of the powers interested will secure the integrity and independence of Turkey. He said all uncalled for meddling with questions concerning the reconstruction of the German Confederation were far from his thoughts. The general aspect of affairs of the world required a country wishing to preserve its existence to observe caution and continue watchful, since the chances for peace were always in proport on to the readiness for resolute defense.

GRANVILLE'S REPLY.

A correspondent of the Tribune, at St. Petersburg, Sunday P. M., says: Granville's reply to Gortschakoff's second note was delivered yesterday. It insists that Gortschakoff admits by his answer that his position is wrong in law. It consents to the conference on the understanding that Russia withdraw her original circular, and the pretension to the rights of separate action, and bring the proposition before the conference anew, to be decided without previous pledges. Otherwise the Embassy will be withdrawn.

The English think it a diplomatic victory. The position is still delicate.

OFFICIAL NEWS.

A correspondent of the Tribune telegraphs from Berlin, Sunday afternoon: The King telegraphs to the Queen: "No fighting of any moment yesterday at Paris. The French are massing troops from Vincennes. During the fight of December 2, the French lost 1,800 prisoners, including one General and twenty superior officers, besides seven guns."

The bombardment of Belfort has commenced.

Nothing new has been received from the army of the Loire.

The military situation among the best informed circles is deemed critical.

Manteuffel has been ordered to march to Paris.

It is stated on good authority that Bismarck insists that he must and will retire from his office unless the Convention with the South German States was adopted, unaltered.

GAMBETTA GONE TO ORLEANS.

TOURS, Dec. 4.—Minister Gambetta has gone to Orleans to consult with officers of the army of the Loire.

FRIDAY'S SANGUINARY BATTLE.

The battle of Friday, in which the Sixteenth and Seventeenth Army Corps were engaged, was protracted and sanguinary, and great losses occurred on both sides, the Prussians using heavy artillery.

REINFORCEMENTS.

The army of the Loire will receive large reinforcements.

It is rumored that General Ducrot, still near Paris, has been reinforced, and will speedily take the offensive.

RAIN AND SNOW.

CHICAGO, December 3.—A dispatch from San Francisco states that it has been raining there for twenty-four hours and that it is snowing hard on the mountains. There is no interruption as yet of the trains on the Pacific Railroad, nor is the direct telegraphic circuit, of twenty-seven hundred miles, from this city to San Francisco, interrupted in the least. This has been in operation over two months, and is the first time since the discovery of telegraph that the attempt has succeeded to work continuously such a length of wire, and the result is regarded with great interest in scientific and newspaper circles.

PORT OF ENTRY NULLIFICATION.

It is very generally known that the recent act of Congress making Chicago, Cleveland, Cincinnati and other interior cities independent ports of entry has been practically nullified by the stringent regulations issued by the treasury department. In consequence thereof a large number of importers, merchants and business men generally, have joined in a memorial to Congress asking the passage of an act whereby the unnecessary restrictions contained in the treasury regulations may be removed and the plain object of the original law be carried out. A committee of importers and merchants will go to Washington for the purpose of having the evil complained of removed.

SUIT TO DECLARE BONDS ILLEGAL.

A suit has been filed in the Court of Chancery by Rollin Wheeler against the city of Chicago, to declare five million dollars' worth of bonds issued by the Comptroller between the date of the adoption of the new State constitution and the time of its taking effect, declared null and void, and also the bonds previously issued for deepening the Illinois and Michigan Canal. The bonds thus issued are water loan bonds, sewerage bonds, river improvement bonds, school bonds, and Lasalle street tunnel bonds. The bill says the bonds were issued to evade the new constitution and for the purpose of accumulating a large fund in the city treasury to be used for unlawful and improper purposes.

CHEYENNE, December 3.—The first lot of township plats ever made for Wyoming were yesterday transmitted to the General Land Office by Dr. Silas Reed, the Surveyor General. They are for the lately surveyed lands along the Union Pacific Railroad around this city, where twelve townships are now sectionized and ready for pre-emption by settlers. Twelve townships more are sectionized along the railroad around Wyoming and Laramie plains, and other plats will shortly be ready for Washington. The great iron mountain will soon be reached by the public surveyors, which the Surveyor General is pushing forward as rapidly as possible in that direction.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3, 1870.

FROM THE SEAT OF WAR.

A private cable dispatch says that by sifting the large number of confused and contradictory war dispatches received at London up to a late hour this morning, the fact is undeniable that the French forces yesterday did actually win a victory as claimed by them, near Orleans, but the Germans certainly repulsed the French attack before Paris. It is not true that the French Army of the Loire has effected a junction with Trochu, though the Prussian lines were repeatedly successfully forced during the engagement. The bayonet charges of the French were exceedingly brilliant.

ROMAN CATHOLIC PROTEST.

Archbishop McClosky and the Bishops of his Diocese recently consulted together at Rochester and resolved to frame an address of sympathy to the Pope, embodying therein the sentiments of Roman Catholics of that diocese, and introducing the strong protest of the clergy and laity against the occupation, recently, of the King of Italy. The Archbishop, on his return to the city, immediately consulted with his counsel. To-morrow evening an address is to be read to the various churches and signed by the clergy and a few prominent laymen. The address offers an avowel of homage and obedience to the See of Peter, of final affection and spiritual allegiance and devotion to the Pope, and sympathy in the infliction to which his august person and Church are subjected. It repudiates and condemns the lawless injustice which has invaded the legitimate dominion of the Pope as Sovereign Prince, and denounces the sacrilegious violence which has brought under captivity his sarced person. The address continues: "Moreover as citizens of the United States, whose Constitution and laws recognize the liberty which the Church has received as an inalienable right from Almighty God, we protest against this violation of religious freedom, and the rights of conscience, which has been perpetrated in the desecrated name of liberty. We also protest against the invasion of the liberty of the Church, in the person of its head, both as an outrage against the sacred prerogative of Your Holiness, as Supreme Pontiff, and as a violation of the right which we as Catholics possess, of being governed by a Chief, completely exempted from and independent of all civil authority." The address finally promises the continued faithfulness of American Catholics to the Pope and the Apostolic See at all times.

NO MORE NEWS UNLESS OFFICIAL.

At this hour (4 P. M.) no European dispatches have been received at the Associated Press office of to-day's date. This is explained by a statement from the cable authorities, that the directors of the line in England have ordered transmission eastwardly by the French cable of messages which have accumulated in America since the recent disaster to the English cable. Messages are now going forward rapidly. Late events in France have caused an enormous increase in the number of messages both ways, and the facilities of the telegraph company, having only one wire now instead of three as heretofore, are taxed to the utmost. It is likely, however, that eastward business will soon be cleared away, when dispatches will come forward as usual. Meanwhile the steamer Robert Lowe is actively at work repairing the English cables, and the telegraph authorities trust that communication will soon be restored in that direction.

RAILROAD CONVENTION.

Pursuant to last adjournment, the Railroad Convention resumed its deliberations yesterday at the St. Nicholas Hotel, at which all the members were present. It is now believed certain that the object sought by the Convention, viz: the equalization of rates, will be attained. The meeting adjourned, to assemble at Erie, Pa., on Monday, December 19, when formal agreements, which are in the meantime to be prepared, will be entered into. Representatives of railroads do not intend to raise the existing rates. They claim that a scheme is proposed to dispense with an immense number of outside agencies and officers, and gives to railroads the amounts paid them without enhancing the price of transportation to the public. It also secures uniform rates on all trunk lines. The vote on the foregoing proposition was unanimous.

THOSE STOLEN CUBAN BONDS.

About four months since $250,000 in Cuban and United States bonds were stolen from the room of the Private Secretary of the Cuban Republic. For some time no trace of the missing bonds could be found. A short time since, word came from California that one of the bonds had been passed there, and about $9,000 paid on it. Then again one was found with a man named Chapman, who was committed. Since then nothing more has been heard until detective Sampson of the brokers' board to-day found a man giving his name as Captain J. A. Pellitierre trying to negotiate for the sale of three bonds, one of $10,000 and two of $5,000 each, to Mr. McNeel[illegible] at No. 79 Cedar street [illegible] dollar. The Union was an iron vessel of two thousand one hundred and thirty-three tons burthen, drawing twenty-two feet of water.

At four o'clock this morning a fire broke out in the fourth floor of the building in the rear of No. 45 Ann street, occupied by J. C. Jackson, manufacturer of jewelry boxes. FIRE AT LAWRENCEBURG!

An Incendiary's Work!

THIRTY FAMILIES HOMELESS!

Twenty-Seven Buildings Destroyed!

LOSS, $100,000!

[Special Dispatch to Pittsburgh Gazette.]

PARKERS LANDING, PA., Dec. 4, 1870.

A very disastrous conflagration occurred at Lawrenceburg this morning, by which a large portion of the town was laid in ashes. The intimation of the fire was given about half past three o'clock, when smoke and flames were observed issuing from the rear of the Linden Billiard building. This structure was of frame, and the lower floor was divided into three compartments, which were occupied respectively as clothing, dry goods, and cigar stores. The flames spread with great rapidity, and for a time the destruction of the entire town was imminent, owing to the insufficiency of the water supply and fire apparatus. The people turned out in force, and succeeded at last, by strenuous exertions, in arresting the progress of the conflagration, but not before property valued at about one hundred thousand dollars had been destroyed. Among the principal houses which were burned were the Revere House, Butler House, New York Hotel, the Public Schoolhouse, Adams & Foster's, Churchlaw's grocery, Gian's meat market and dwelling, Herby's shoe store, Oil City clothing store, Levine & Co.'s cigar shop, Read & Hazen's drug house, Geac's saloon, Adinger's grocery, Ehrlich's variety, and Warne's liquor stores, Mrs. McCleary's millinery, Porter's billiard hall, Etsell & Knitties and Kats, and Phillip & Reifer's shoe stores, Ayer's jewelry establishment, Mrs. Ayer's millinery, and the dwellings of Hickenstein, McBride, Grobb, and Fullerton. The Legal Tender oil well tanks and sheds, together with one hundred barrels of oil of the Independent Company, were also destroyed. Not less than thirty families are homeless. The greatest excitement, confusion and distress prevails in the town. No positive information as yet has been ascertained in reference to the origin of the fire, but it is generally set down as the work of an incendiary. The matter will be investigated. H.

ALARMING DISEASE.

A Lady Dies From a Disease Produced by a New Human Parasite—Medical Authorities Consulted—The Doctors Puzzled—The Circumstances.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—The city of Elgin, some forty miles west of Chicago, is greatly excited by the appearance of a strange disease in that vicinity, the first case known of which terminated fatally on Friday last. It was as follows: On Friday week Mrs. C. W. Daniels, a lady twenty-two years of age, who was married two years ago, and gave birth to a child eleven months since, was prostrated by what seemed at first to be premonitory symptoms of typhoid fever. She had not been very well for some time previous, but nothing serious was anticipated until Sunday, when she was compelled to take her bed and place herself under medical treatment.

THE SYMPTOMS.

She complained of pains in her bones and soreness in her flesh. Nothing very unusual, however, was observed until Sunday morn[illegible] its dark color, it looking like the [illegible] ink bottle.

In the meantime the patient grew worse. She suffered terribly, and complained of soreness all over the body. Nothing could be done to relieve her. She could not bear a bath, and could hardly be touched.

DEATH RELIEVES THE SUFFERER.

She lingered in agony until this afternoon at one o'clock, when she died.

INVESTIGATION AFTER DECEASE.

There was some reason at first to believe that the parasites were the product of some disease of the breast, and were confined to that locality.

THE TEST APPLIED.

The doctor determined to test the matter, and anticipating her death, he was prepared to do so, and while the body was still warm he made an incision in the calf of the leg, and drawing the lancet, examined the matter which covered it.

PARASITES IN THE FLESH.

He found three of the parasites, only one of which was alive. They were similar in all respects to those found in the fluid taken from the breast. He then dissected the tibialis anticus muscle of the leg, including a small portion of the surrounding flesh.

APPEARANCE OF THE MUSCLE.

The muscle presented a granular appearance, as if covered with grains of sand. These grains the doctor assures us were parasites.

The investigations were conducted by Dr. Clark, assisted by Dr. Tyrell, and neither of them nor any of the faculty who have been asked their opinion are able to explain the presence of what they regard as parasitical phenomena.

FURTHER EXAMINATION TO TAKE PLACE.

A further examination of muscle will be made, and it is expected that some light will be shed upon what is now a mystery. The physicians think that the parasites hastened her death, if they were not the immediate cause. While some of the symptoms of typhoid remained to the end, they were aggravated. The pains and soreness and throbbing especially—and death came sooner and more suddenly than in cases of unmistakable typhoid.

THE BABE LIVING.

The baby had been pining for some time before his mother took sick, but as soon as he was weaned he recovered his health, and is now more robust than ever. He was not weaned until his mother was confined to her bed.

THE CHILD EXAMINED.

The doctor reports that he examined the child's blood, which was perfectly healthy.

NEW ALBANY.

Large Fire and Heavy Loss.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW ALBANY, IND., December 4.—About half past four o'clock this evening a fire broke out in the large brick flouring mill of Peter Mann, on State street. In a very short time the entire building was in flames. The fire extended to the wholesale dry goods house of S. C. Day & Sons, on the South side, and the establishment of J. Laughmiller on the North, which were also soon completely consumed. All three of these buildings were burned. The contents of Day's dry goods store were mostly removed. The flouring mill contained a large amount of wheat and flour. A great part of the flour was removed, but the wheat was all burned. The stock of Laughmiller was not removed, consisting mostly of merchant iron, which will be saved in a damaged condition. The entire loss on buildings and stock will amount to about $75,000; insurance $36,000, mostly in eastern companies.

During the progress of the fire the wall on the northern side of Laughmiller's building fell with a tremendous crash upon a two story frame building, upon which were some ten or fifteen persons. Five of these were more or less injured. None of them, however, were very seriously injured. The roof of the frame building was crushed in, and the building nearly destroyed.

The fire is still progressing, but the firemen have it under control. It is not probable it will extend any further.

The Situation Unchanged in Alabama—The Senatorial Affair—Attempt to Assassinate—Mormon Troubles Trouble the Government—The New Minister to France—Interesting Tabular Statement—Matters in Mexico.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

THE SITUATION IN ALABAMA.

WASHINGTON, December 3, 1870.

Private telegrams received last night from Alabama show that the situation remains the same. Next Tuesday the law compels the vote to be taken for Senator. It is thought here that five Republican members of the House will be unseated by Democrats in consequence of their inability under the Constitution, they having been office-holders at the time of their election. If this be done, it will give a Democratic majority on joint ballot. The prominent Democratic candidates are Judge Goldthwait, F. W. Sykes and Col. C. Renshaw. But it is thought that Lieutenant Governor Morton will be successful. It is true, as reported, that a number of Republican members refused to support Senator Warner under any circumstances. Their opposition is based upon Senator Warner's refusal to vote for fundamental conditions in the admission of Virginia, Mississippi, Texas and Georgia, and his unfriendless to the course of Senators Sumner and Morton, as well as his endorsement of Andrew Johnson's policy. Alex. White, Col. Fennington and Judge Haralson are prominently named as Republican candidates.

MORMON AFFAIRS.

There is a strong feeling here against the confirmation of Mr. Vaughan as Governor of Utah Territory, and an effort will be made to induce the President to withdraw his name. The President is urged to adopt a firm policy toward the Mormons, and force them into obedience to United States laws. He is advised to appoint a man who will govern Utah with a stern hand, and in this connection certain prominent Pennsylvania politicians are endeavoring to secure the appointment of Shelby McCullom, the present Chairman of the House Committee on Territories and author of the very stringent Mormon bill introduced in the House last session. Appearances indicate that the President intends to yield to these suggestions, withdraw Vaughan's name and adopt a more stringent policy towards the Mormons.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A large number of Congressmen are already in the city, including some from some of the distant portions of the country. From present indications there will be only a few vacant seats in both Houses on Monday. It is probable that copies of the message will not be in the hands of the public before two o'clock Monday, if so early. Copies of the reports of Secretaries of the Navy and War and of the Comptroller of the Currency are promised for the press in advance of their delivery, but under pledge not to publish before the sending of the President's Message to Congress.

SPEAKERSHIP.

So far as the election of Speaker is concerned, it is believed that Speaker Blaine's chances for re-election will be better if the new Congress assembles on the fourth of March, than in December following, when the personal influence with old members will not be so great as immediately after adjournment of the forty-first Congress. It seems certain, therefore, that Mr. Blaine and his friends will oppose the repeal of the law providing for the assembling of every new Congress immediately after the adjournment of the old one.

ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION.

Governor Warmouth, while here, received a telegram from Captain Myers, commandant at the post of Baton Rouge, that an attempt had been made to assassinate Lieut. Bandy, who testified against the Baton Rouge rioters, at New Orleans.

THE NEW FRENCH MINISTER.

M. Trielhard, the new French Minister, has received his credentials. His reception by the President will take place early next week. M. Berthemy leaves on Monday for the city and thence for Europe.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4, 1870.

MEXICAN MATTERS.

The subject of the establishment of free ports on the Rio Grande will, at an early day of the next session of Congress, be brought before that body. More than two years ago the Committee on Foreign Affairs of the House made a report pursuant to a resolution offered by Mr. Blaine, instructing that Committee to inquire whether the action of the Mexican Government in establishing free ports at Matamoras and other points on the Rio Grande, is not a violation of the treaty stipulations and unfriendly to the commercial rights of the country. This subject was brought to the attention of the Mexican Government by Mr. Plumb when acting as Charge D'Affairs at Mexico, and also by Minister Rosecrans.

Minister for Foreign Affairs informed Mr. Plumb that the Government had considered, and will continue to occupy itself considering this subject, with the attention the subject requires, but instead of affording a remedy the free zone system has been extended.

VERY INTERESTING TABLE.

An interesting tabular statement is in course of preparation from authentic sources, which will exhibit at a glace the pay of officers of the Government at various periods, from 1789 down to the present time, and disclose some curious facts concerning the increase of pay of various officers. It will show that while the pay of certain officers has been increased three or four fold, other salaries remain as they were in 1789, and others as in 1820, without an increase. Auditors in the Treasury Department in 1820 received $3,000; in 1870 the same. The Second Comptroller in 1820, $3,000; in 1870, $3,000. The Register received in 1820, $3,000; same in 1870. The Solicitor of the Treasury and Assistant Secretaries have had no increase for over half a century, and now receive only $3,500, while all officers appointed under the laws passed since the war are more liberally paid. In 1779 ordinary clerks received $500 a year; now the clerks receive from $2,000 to $3,000. The table from which these facts are derived is valuable for reference. It embraces all the important offices at the seat of Government.

THE YERGER CASE.

A recent letter from Jackson, Mississippi, says that the grand jury in July last found a true bill against Yerger for manslaughter in killing Col. Crane. That court has not been in session since that time, and it is more than probable there will be a change of venue, and that it was somewhat doubtful whether there will ever be a trial or not.

SALT LAKE.

Treasure Recovered

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

SALT LAKE, December 3.—A few days since F. F. Tracy, agent of Wells & Fargo, in this city, received a d spatch from Elko, Nevada, stating that Bonnefield and Rand, of Elko, said to be counsel for Dan Taylor, one of the Central Pacific Railroad robbers, had, after consultation with Taylor, suddenly left for the east. Tracy put the matter in the hands of the police here, and they had detectives on the track, who, as soon as Bonnefield and Rand arrived on the train, followed them west from this city to near where Taylor was captured, and arrested them in the act of digging up the stolen treasure. Two thousand dollars in greenbacks and forty-five ounces of gold dust was taken from them, and digging down further they found three hundred dollars in coin. They are now in jail here. They say Taylor told them where the treasure was hidden to induce them to act as his counsel.

He confessed the embezzlement at the hearing before the Commissioner.

Great enthusiasm was manifested, and the subscription will doubtless be soon secured.

GREAT CATHOLIC DEMONSTRATION.

A monster demonstration was held here this afternoon in the Catholic cathedral, to protest against the spoliation of the States Church by Victor Emmanuel. The building was occupied by five thousand people, and many more congregated in the vicinity, unable to gain admittance.

A WHITE BOY, fifteen years of age, was almost buried alive, quite recently, in an attempt to dig his way out of the Wabashaw (Minn.) jail. The intention was to assist two other prisoners—one of whom is under sentence of death for murder—to escape; but in piling up the dirt behind him, as he went along, he finally made the hole so small that he could neither return nor go forward, and an alarm having been given, the Sheriff set men to work and had him taken out more dead than alive.

THE item telegraphed about the vote on the amendment striking out the word "white" in the Michigan Constitution, was incorrect. Official returns have been received from fifty-two counties, and they give an aggregate affirmative majority of 3,375. Eight of the more remote and sparsely settled counties are yet to hear from, and they may reduce this total a few hundreds. The only importance possessed by the matter lies in the fact that it makes negroes subject to military service, as their voting is already covered by the Fifteenth Amendment.

ON Saturday of last week, Mr. J. Everhardt and wife, who reside near Jasper, Dubois county, Indiana, went visiting, leaving their children at home in care of their grandfather. To keep the little ones in the house, the old man locked the doors, and lay down to sleep. While he was asleep, the children, somehow, set fire to the house. The fire was first discovered by a neighbor, who succeeded in rescuing the old man and the babe, which was asleep in the cradle, but the older children perished in the flames. The house was burned to the ground, with all its contents.

THE Hannibal Courier says: "On the night of the 25th inst., as the mail train going west on the T. W. & W. Railroad was leaving Chapin Station two men jumped into the mail car. When told that passengers were not allowed to ride in that car they swore they would ride where they pleased. Tom Laughlin, the head clerk, then reached for the bell-cord, when one of the attacking party drew a slung-shot and made an assault upon him. Allen, the postal clerk, saw him draw his weapon, and, before he could strike, drew a mail lock and struck the villian on the head, staggering him and saving Laughlin. The other one drew a slung-shot and struck at Allen, who threw up his arm and received the blow on the hand. Laughlin then seized the poker, and, with a well-directed blow, knocked No. 2 out of the car. By this time No. 1 had recovered from the effects of his collision with the mail lock, and, thinking the place a little too warm for comfort, made for the door. Another excellent throw from Allen caught his head on a fly, and sent him heels over head out of the car, after his comrade. Allen's hand is badly hurt, several bones being broken. It is possible the villains made a mistake, intending to get into an express car and rob it, but either way, it was a bold affair, and the postal clerks deserve great credit for the manner in which they repulsed the attack."

THE Germans claim that the new Bavarian mitrailleuse, which was first used during one of the sorties from Paris, is by far superior to the French weapon. The Marquis had shot the lady in the breast, but slightly, and then fired six shots at his own heart, which will probably kill him. The affair is a romantic mystery.

"NEVER bet the devil your head," is a musty old proverb, with a value of its own. Dr. Oldham, a distinguished Indian savant, some time ago, when it was announced that coal-beds had been discovered in Bellary, peremptorily contradicted a rumor that conflicted with his geologic diagnosis, and promised to eat all the coal that was found in the Madras Presidency. Each man is given a franc a day, and with this he is expected to provide for himself.

The Trade of the West, in an interesting letter from Denver, gives some very significant figures in regard to the trade of Colorado. It names not only Denver, but Central City, Kit Carson, Georgetown, Colorado City, Pueblo, and Trinidad as important cities for wholesale trade. The gross sales of Denver are stated at $12,000,000 annually, the sales of five firms amounting to over $400,000 each annually. The yield of precious metals amounted to $5,000,000 the past year.

THE TWENTIETH WARD NOMINATIONS.
SHADYSIDE, Dec. 3, 1860.
To my Constituents, the Voters and Tax-Payers of the Twentieth Ward, Pittsburgh.
GENTLEMEN:
By your unanimous vote, one year ago, I was called to serve as your representative in the City Councils. I was aware that a large surplus fund (the outgrowth of the fund raised in 1862 to compromise the City Railroad Bonds) had accumulated in the City Treasury, the interest of which, some $30,000 per annum, was lost to the city. When the Finance Committee, at the first meeting of Councils in January, presented their estimates of Expenditures and Appropriation Bill for the current year, I tried ineffectually to have the bill so amended as to absorb and include this surplus unemployed fund of over $400,000, and thus lighten the burden of the tax-payers to that extent. This effort failed. I then, feeling convinced that this effort had been defeated by the influence of those city politicians interested in the profits of this fund, introduced the Ordinance of the 7th of February, 1870, known as the "Barton Ordinance," providing that the interest of this fund, until it was required for city purposes, be paid into the Treasury. This Ordinance became a law. It was resisted by the politicians until obedience was compelled by the order and mandate of the Court.
By the statement appended from the City Controller's books you will see what this gain has been to the city. I considered that this fund was a source of temptation and corruption to those having its control. That thus permitting any individual or individuals to profit by the money of the tax-payers was a serious abuse, and that it was an abuse which we, the Republican members, were responsible for, and a called for and needed reform in our own party. And for these reasons exerted myself to have it corrected, and in this I was supported and sustained by the entire press and the large majority of the tax-payers.
But it appears that I have committed an unpardonable sin against the politicians of my party, who considered the interest of this fund the legitimate spoils of office. The primary meetings took place on Wednesday evening, Nov. 30, 1870, and I found that the politicians had their arrangements for the contest, and the time had come, in their estimation, when they could get rid of a representative who had interfered with the perquisites of the party; and every effort was resorted to accomplish my defeat. I made but little exertion. I had not sought the contest, but I did not decline it. I submitted to the vote of my constituents, and the result was that a full and fair majority decided in my favor, and called upon me to continue as their representative, and to watch the unexpended balances. The vote was so announced by the two judges, both of them chosen by themselves and opposed to my renomination. And now, what is the result? These gentlemen announce that they will not be bound by the nomination; they want, as they term it, a new deal; they cry out illegal votes, fraud in the nomination, irregularities in an election conducted and controlled by themselves. Is it possible that any outsiders could outwit politicians of their well-known assumed sagacity, experience and expertness? The idea is simply preposterous.
And now, voters of the 20th ward, Pittsburgh, I submit the issue to you. Your interests as well as mine are involved. Will you permit me to be worried to death by the Treasury Ring? Your vote on next Tuesday will decide the question.
Yours, respectfully,
JOHN BARTON.

OFFICE OF CITY CONTROLLER, PITTSBURGH, Dec. 2, 1870.
I certify that the amount received and credited to the city for interest paid under the operations of the provisions of the Ordinance of the 7th of February, 1870, is as follows, to-wit:

August 31, 1870	$2,265 44
September 7—19, 1870	1,998 68
November 9, 1870	1,961 65
December 2, 1870	1,680 77
	$7,906 54

The first deposit under this law was made after the decision of the mandamus case, to-wit, on July 25, 1870. The interest accruing between this date and the time the Ordinance passed has never been accounted for.
This does not include the interest received from Ira B. McVay for interest on the Water Fund which amounts to $1,521 28 in addition to the above. This statement does not include any interest on the sum of $53,180 25, advanced to certain contractors under certain resolution of City Council, as the same was not in the Treasury, and therefore yielded no interest.
R. J. McGOWAN, Controller.

WE are indebted to Hon. Simon Cameron for valuable documents.

EVERY CITIZEN who is interested in the proper conduct of ward or municipal affairs should cast his vote to-morrow.

SEE to it that no good Republican is scratched and defeated in your ward to-morrow to advance the chances of a Democratic rival.

THE OFFICIAL RETURNS of the census show an increase of population in the State of [illegible],888. The increase between 1840 and 1850, was 587,753 and between 1850 and 1860, [illegible]94,829.

THE Boston Post says the Radicals in Buffalo County Minnesota "elected a dead man to the State Assembly, having no live man in the party they dared to trust." The dead Republican outran the live Democrat.

GENERAL PALADINES, commanding the Army of the Loire, is a hale, hearty, active man, 67 years old. At the time of the declaration of war he was on the retired list, but immediately proffered his services.

IT IS ALWAYS a safe rule to stand by your party nominations. Bolting is a dangerous experiment and inevitably brings about a result unwished for by the bolters. Stand by the nominees of the Republican party to-morrow.

THE Boston Post earnestly urges Congress as soon after its meeting as possible, to demand the reduction of the army. Not so much for the reason that thereby expenditures will be reduced, as by this means Democratic majorities might be increased by fraudulent and illegal voting.

THE DECREASE of our national debt for the month of November, is $7,473,860.90. This is a little below the average for the second year, but it is at all events, satisfactory proof of a wise and judicious collection of the revenues, and of the economical expenditures of the Administration.

FISK, JR., declared that he could make 20,000 of his railway workmen vote as he pleased. Whereupon Kurs, at a meeting of Carpenters and Joiners, declared that Fisk's workmen should have told him in reply "that not a car should run on his line, and that his tracks should rot before they would surrender their manhood."

THE TENDER-HEARTED Lou-Cou Journal, is worrying over the hour when the President will leave the White House, and says he will not have money enough to keep a stud of race-horses. Perhaps the Cour-Jou., when that hour comes, will kindly offer its services to the President as an animal of humbler mien.

LONG BRANCH should be crowded with visitors next summer, and Democratic journalists should be dead heads. They have been praising it to the echo the past season, and attracting attention to it in every issue. We take it for Grant-ed, that Long Branch landlords will not forget their many disinterested acts of love and kindness. If they don't remember them kindly, Democratic labor has been for nothing.

THE Democracy of the Sixth district of Michigan elected Jabez G. Sutherland to Congress. On the 17th of September Mr. Sutherland wrote a letter in which he said "in this Congressional district no party opposed to a tariff can ever hope to succeed, nor ought such a party to succeed. I shall consider it my duty if elected to do all I can to secure protection." Mr. Sutherland is one of the many Democrats who will not unite with Revenue Reform.

SAN FRANCISCO is not altogether pleased with the results flowing from the Mercantile Library scheme. Judge Stanly has decided that the Mercantile Library Act is unconstitutional, and that it did not repeal the Anti-Lottery law, and further that he would hold for trial any one assisting in the lottery scheme. The net profits of that Lottery have been returned $310,722. This net profit covers one suicide, and a thousand minor ills that will inevitably spring from that one lottery.

THE new Idria Mine, that has had so much notoriety through the McGarrahan claim, is said to be an indescribably dreary locality. It is situated about two hundred miles almost due south of Sacramento, California. It was opened about ten years ago, but after being worked for a few years, was closed by injunction. It was re-opened in 1865, and since that time has been in active operation, employing from two to three hundred men. Its yield of quicksilver, which is said to be exhaustless, was, in 1867, 11,860 flasks.

IF THE RANKS of a political party are broken and disordered in minor contests, it is hard to cement them together for greater action when needed. If a party would be successful in grand struggles, it must work harmoniously and vigorously at all times for it is the majorities carried from the townships, wards and boroughs and cities that make the aggregate vote of the State, and of the States that make that of the Union. In politics no district is so trifling as to be neglected, no election so unimportant as to justify a departure from political lines.

THE New York Times is worrying over a mathematical problem. It has thus far failed to ascertain how a Supervisor's clerk on a salary of $1,800, has, since 1867, saved up about $300,000, without starving. If the New York Times will borrow the calculation table on elections of the New York Democratic State Executive Committee, it will not only discover how this may be easily accomplished, but will be surprised that the clerk has not saved up two or three hundred thousand more. If the clerk is Democratic he probably used those tables.

THE CITY ELECTIONS.

To-morrow agreeably to the law and in accordance with the proclamation of the Mayor, the citizens of Pittsburgh will hold an election in the various districts for Councilmen, School Directors and other local officers. In all the wards the Republicans have already held primary [illegible] and nominated, so far as we can [illegible] tickets worthy undivided party [illegible] some localities the Democ[illegible] regular tickets in the [illegible] disguise of so-called [illegible] tickets they hope [illegible] We regret that, in [illegible] have succeeded in [illegible] of dissatisfied Re[illegible] lling to coalesce [illegible] order to obtain [illegible] party friends [illegible] light or griev[illegible] friends [illegible] be resented [illegible] elections [illegible] The [illegible] tickets [illegible] we can [illegible] and [illegible] he fairly [illegible] Repub[illegible] and [illegible] We hope there will be unanimity in our ranks to-morrow, and that a large vote will be polled.

GOVERNOR VANCE.

If Governor Vance of North Carolina, is admitted to the Senate of the United States, there should be at once Universal Amnesty proclaimed. We do not urge that he should not be admitted, but we do most emphatically assert that if he is, there is no rebel in the land whose disloyalty during the rebellion should prevent an immediate pardon being granted him. Governor Vance is a rebel of record. His speech to his Confederate Regiment in which he said, "boys fight until you fill h-l so full of Yankees that their feet will stick out of the windows" has not been forgotten. He it was, who urged that Union men should not be permitted to live in the State after the close of the war, and who promised, if the State passed into the hands of his party, the condition of the Republicans "should be worse than that of the people of Sodom and Gomorrah." His serenade speech was of a character that plainly showed all his old rebel proclivities were still in full possession of his heart and soul, and he is to-day as bad a man as Southern disloyalty could find, and not such an one as would indicate a better state of feeling in the South. If he is admitted to Congress, the refusal to admit Stephens becomes a farce. Congress will do probably what is best to be done, but if it does admit him to the Senate, it will be solely and entirely on the ground of a desire to overlook the past, and restore the people of all the States to their old condition, of one common brotherhood. North Carolina, however, might have done better, but she could do no worse than elect Vance to the Senate.

REPUBLICANISM AND DEMOCRACY.

There is to-day within the United States, but one well defined political organization. That organization is the Republican party. It has a past, present, and a future. It is frank in its avowal of principles, and sturdy in its maintenance of them. It cheerfully accepts the burthens of its mission, as it modestly receives the credit due it for its success in establishing its progressive principles. It has been abused, maligned, slandered and misrepresented, but it has never turned from its course, but toiled onwards in its great work of humanity. There is no one able to read but can state with certainty the policy of the Republican organization. In this respect it differs from every other political party in the Union. Democracy, fights beneath a cloud. What it wants, or what it proposes to do, are alike wrapped up in an impenetrable mist. It has no past, for it declares that the past is dead. It has no good record that it dare bring before the people. It carries no recommendations with it, but when questioned with regard to years that have gone, it evades the query, by promises for the future.

As it has no past, neither has it a present. It's whole labor is concentrated in the desire to defeat the Republican Party. It has ten thousand articles of agreement with the public, about one-half of which contradict the other half. It dare not undertake to review the history of Republicanism with fairness; for such a review would be tolling its own death knell. Its charges against Republicanism are all so contemptibly trifling, that they excite little save contempt. While it ignores its own past, and with folded hands begs for silence, its whole plan of attack on the Republican party is wilful misrepresentations of that past. While it says its record is a dead issue, it urges that it has found a living issue in Republican action, cotemporaneous with that which is claimed to be dead in Democrat life. It says, "let us misrepresent the past with you, but do not speak truly of the past with us." It is a confession of error, without the manhood to come forward and openly avow it. Such a party can have no present, save in the ambition to gain power, and if possible be revenged for the punishment righteously inflicted on it.

It is simply drifting about on the political sea, the debris of an old organization that hopes as it moves along to gather little by little the "cast-offs" of other parties, until it may become strong enough to battle with the current. Lately it struck against a knot of discontent, under the name of "Revenue Reform," and it has been shouting hozannas over the unity ever since. But as yet, "Revenue Reform" claims to be a wreck of its own. It does not like to attach itself to the dead and rotten lumber of Democracy. It prefers rather for awhile to drift about on its own hook, in the wake of Republicanism. Even here, Democracy fails to have a present. For after putting on its sweetest smiles, it finds that Revenue Reform utterly refuses to unite with it, and so it has, at last, proposed to tie fast to Revenue Reform. And when it does so, it says, the policy is nothing new to Democracy, and therefore in allowing "Revenue Reform" to lead us, there is nothing humiliating to our great party. Democratic journals are to-day urging upon Democracy with regard to "Revenue Reform" that, as "the mountain will not go to Mahomet, Mahomet must go to the mountain." The Valley Spirit of November 30th says: "We do not think that it will be at all disgraceful to the Democrats, even if they help elect a Revenue Reform Radical to occupy the speaker's chair. It is the duty of the Democracy to keep sowing discord among their opponents. That is the sure way to win in the end."

This perhaps may be an exceptional piece of advice in Democratic journalism, but the total want of any principle is manifest here. A Revenue Reform Radical to occupy the Speakers chair, by Democracy drifting to his help. Surely it is true that Democracy has no past, and has no present, other than desire for the loaves and fishes. After the endless amount of "tyranny" Democracy has charged against Republicanism, of the "unlawful arrests," "gross corruption," and acts that according to Democracy are not redeemed from the blackness of crime by a single palliation, Democracy will take a Radical to its arms, elect him Speaker, and honor his past, in order "to sow discord among its opponents." If there was one, sound, high, holy, or noble principle as the end and aim of Democracy, would it sacrifice it in this way. But it has no present, if it dare do this that as an organization it is willing to present to the people.

Revenue Reform, has not yet explained itself. We know what Free Trade means, but what "Revenue Reform" is intended to convey, has not as yet been explained. It may mean Free Trade, or it may mean positive prohibition. It may mean anything or nothing. But whatever it is intended to carry out by that organization, one fact is beyond controversy; the public have never as yet been thoroughly enlightened. We would be glad if there was a little less buncombe about its supporters, and a little more light thrown over their efforts. We are told we shall know in the future. We regard that as very doubtful, unless the people can be made to understand now, what is intended in the future. But the Revenue Reform party has no past to point to. It claims to be Republican. If it is, Democracy may war in vain. There are too many principles at stake outside of the Tariff, at present, for true Republicans, to allow Democracy to cheat them of all others for this one. If they are true Republicans, they will neither unite with the Democracy, nor permit the Democracy to unite with them. This Democratic party, that claims no principles of its own, outside of Revenue Reform, that confesses its birthright is buried with the past, but that is in reality loaded down with principles so corrupt it dare not revert to them, can find no shelter and will find none under the protection of Republicanism.

We await the meeting of the Legislature for the truth to come to light. We desire to see how many Revenue Reformers, were elected as Republicans, who are willing to shake hands with Democracy over the ruin of Republicanism. On the other hand too, we are anxious to see how much of a party the Democratic party of the present is. How many of those that have for years denounced Radicalism as corrupt, will vote for a Radical for Speaker, because he was elected as a "Revenue Reformer." We are anxious to learn how Democratic promises for the future are to be construed from Democratic acts of the present. We do not fear the result, and feel confident that this huckstering for power, this open bid of bribery and corruption, will be rejected by both the Republican and the Democratic parties. The first on principle, and the last, if not on principle, at all events on policy.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

THE LIFE OF ARTHUR TAPPAN. Published by Hurd & Houghton, New York. For sale by J. W. Pittock, Pittsburgh.

Comparatively few of the so-called reformers are worthy to be considered in the same connection with Arthur Tappan. He was a philanthropist and reformer in the noblest and highest sense, and was a blessing to the world. Early in life he identified himself with projects for the amelioration of the downtrodden, and his labors in behalf of the blacks cost him sacrifices and persecutions. But his labor was not in vain, now his name is honored and is "like unto ointment poured forth." Possessing remarkable business characteristics, he rapidly acquired wealth and influence, which he nobly used for doing good. His wonderful career is told in this book, with the charm of romance, by his brother, Lewis Tappan, who has performed his part well.

WORDS AND THEIR USES, PAST AND PRESENT. A Study of the English Language. By Richard Grant White. Published by Sheldon & Co., New York. For sale by S. A. Clark & Co., Pittsburgh.

In this volume we have the patient researches of one of the most scholarly writers of the day. His criticisms show his culture and ability to grappel with a study of this kind. As with a scalpel, the abuses of our language by the improper use of words, are laid bare by a master hand. The author shows very clearly that the proper course is the one of plain words, and denounces in unmeasured terms the common slang phrases of society. We feel quite sure this work will command much praise for its ability and usefulness.

THE CASTAWAYS: A Story of Adventure in Borneo. By Captain Mayne Reid. Published by Sheldon & Co., New York.

This is a book of wild adventure and of that fascinating character that for boys it will be filled with deep interest. The sufferings of the castaways are absorbing and instructive, are portrayed in bold and striking words, and are of the type that young people will relish. Coupled with the hair-breadth escapes of the characters, there is much to be learned by its perusal. The book ought to and will sell well.

CONANT FARM. DOWN THE STEPS. Published by Carter & Brothers, New York. For sale by S. A. Clarke & Co.

Phases of New England life are portrayed with remarkable precision, and while there is much to commend, there are also some things depicted that present Puritanic character in an unenviable light. The character of "'Squire Downing's Heirs" shows the same graceful style in "Down the Steps" as in former works. The story happily illustrates the passage, "And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil." A work of such chasteness and purity of style is admirably suited for young people.

FREDDIE FIGHTING HIS WAY. LITTLE PRIMROSE. Published by R. Carter & Bros.

Little people will enjoy the story of Freddie fighting his way through the difficulties which beset childhood. "Little Primrose" is a tender story of a little girl who died from the effects of an accident in the faith of the Gospel. Both of these books will do children good.

WHY AND HOW. By Russell H. Conwell. Published by Lee and Shepard, Boston.

This work gives the reason why the Chinese emigrate, and the means they adopt for the purpose of reaching America, with sketches of travel, amusing incidents, and social customs. Just at this time it is opportune, and presents the question in an attractive and instructive form. The author has the happy knack of making his book readable and life-like.

THE SOCIAL STAGE: Original Dramas, Comedies, Burlesques, and Entertainments for Home Recreation, Schools and Public Exhibitions. By George M. Baker, author of "Amateur Dramas," etc. Published by Lee and Shepard, Boston.

The character of this work is so fully set forth in the copious title page, that it is unnecessary to give a full description of its merits. It ought to be popular.

LETTERS EVERYWHERE. Stories and Rhymes for Children. By Theophile Schuyler. Published by Lee and Shepard, Boston.

This is a charming work for young people, and the author has shown much ingenuity in its construction. The stories will interest children, and the curious device of reprinting the letters of the alphabet, will be a study for many an evening hour. The illustrations are capital and just such as will instruct and entertain.

THE HOUSE ON WHEELS; or the Stolen Child. By Madame de Stoltz. Translated from the French by Mrs. E. F. Adams. Published by Lee & Shepard, Boston.

Many a young heart will be thrilled by the story of Adalbert's captivity among the Gipsies. He was a disobedient boy, and during a journey of his father's family to Germany he was stolen by a Gipsy and carried in a house on wheels. After suffering every kind of hardship, he finally got word to his parents and was rescued. The lessons taught will be wholesome to young people. The illustrations are exceedingly fine and graphic. These four publications, from Lee & Shepard, are for sale by S. A. Clark & Co.

WILLSON'S NEW SPELLER AND ANALYZER. By Marcus Willson. Published by Harper & Brothers, New York. For sale by E. Miner.

The plan and arrangement of this speller is admirable, and is well suited for young beginners in the study of orthography and the structure and use of words. Like all of Willson's works, the speller is well planned.

ROLLO AND LUCY POETRY. Three volumes. Original and selected. By Jacob Abbott, author of the "Franconia Stories," &c. Published by Dodd & Mead, New York. For sale by R. S. Davis & Co.

There is something novel in the construction of these volumes, and it is a happy idea indeed of the author. The three books are a graduated series and yet each volume is complete in itself. Mr. Abbott has the happy art of doing anything well, and with much admirable taste and judgment, and best of all he writes nothing to deprave and foster bad lessons. The first volume is intended for children not able to read, and the second for those who can read, while the third is for those advanced into their teens. The selections correspond to this order, and the illustrations are in keeping with the excellent matter.

LABOR STANDS ON GOLDEN FEET. A Holiday Story. By Heinrich Zschokke. Translated by John Yeats, L.L. D. Published by Dodd & Mead, New York.

Substantial lessons are embodied in this work of the dignity of labor, happily illustrated in the history of a German family of workers during three generations. The influence of home training, thrift and probity, are all beautifully wrought out and developed in social comfort and happiness. It also reveals the issue of manual labor with machinery. The book, while it serves to exalt labor in the higher sense, contains precepts of morality and wisdom.

OPIUM AND THE OPIUM-APPETITE: With notices of Alcoholic Beverages, Cannabis Indica, Tobacco and Cocoa, and Tea and Coffee, or their Hygienic aspects and Pathologic relations. By Alonzo Calkins, M. D. Published by J. B. Lippincott & Co., Philadelphia. For sale by E. Miner. Fifth avenue, Pittsburgh.

This volume contains a fund of curious facts on Opium eating, that will startle most readers. This Syllabus of Topics and Cases is very full, embracing thirty sections, which covers the entire ground and would seem to be a complete cyclopedia of reference on this subject. The plan of the work, and researches and authorities adduced, are all that could be desired. The work is well gotten up, and will do immense good by its circulation. The evil is a terrible one, affecting not only individuals, but tainting society, and we hope this work will be instrumental in checking it.

WHO WILL WIN; GOING ON A MISSION. Published by Lee & Shepard, Boston. For sale by S. A. Clarke, Pittsburgh.

These volumes form a part of the "Beckoning Series," richly illustrated, and neatly bound. The first is a story of the fall of many who start out in the race of life, and are led astray and become worthless, and the contrary course of some, who press through every difficulty and succeed. The record shows that every one may do good and be successful, without going far away to find a place to work. Both volumes are calculated to inspire young people to do good and be useful.

GODFREY THE LOLLARD. By Francis Eastwood. Published by Dodd & Mead, New York.

This story is one of thrilling interest; facts are woven together in the form of romance, reciting the persecutions and bitter trials to which the followers of Wickliffe in England were driven hundreds of years ago. In this story, the peculiar doctrines of the Lollards, and their manner of preaching the Gospel, and helping and sustaining each other in the faith, are all presented. It is a capital book for young people.

DICK & FITZGERALD, NEW YORK, send us through J. H. Aiken, of this city, "The Art of Dressing Well; or, A Complete Guide to Economy, Style and Propriety of Costume," by S. A. Frost; "Martine's Droll Dialogues and Laughable Recitations," by Arthur Martine; and Howard's Book of Drawing Room Theatricals," edited by Clarence J. Howard.

HARPER & BROTHERS, NEW YORK, have just issued "The Warden and Barchester Towers," by Anthony Trollope, author of the "Vicar of Bulhampton," etc. This author's writings are so well known that the mere announcement of a work from his pen is sufficient.

LEE & SHEPHARD, BOSTON, send "Little Folks Astray," one of the "Little Prudy's Flyaway Series," for little folks. This series is quite a favorite with small children.

BRIEF TOPICS.

AN ASTOUNDED FRENCHMAN.

The Paris correspondence of the London papers has supplied the latest test of sanity. A respectable inhabitant of that city, it seems, lost his reason while suffering from an attack of fever some four months ago, and remained in a state of mental aberration until very recently. Before he fell sick the cry at Paris was "A Berlin!" "A Berlin!" and the Prussians were going to be soon annihilated. From that time he was placed in confinement under medical treatment, and not allowed to know what was passing in the world until within a few days since, when the fever wholly left him and he regained his senses. He then discovered that he was in an asylum, and was informed as to what had been the matter with him. His first request of the doctor was leave to write to his family, who, he was told, were at some distance from Paris. The doctor gave him permission, adding at the same time, that "as a balloon was going up the next day the letter might be sent by that medium." The invalid, on hearing this, gave a shriek of despair, and exclaimed in tones of agony that he found he was still considered mad. The doctor assured him he was quite sane. The patient thereupon replied that in that case the doctor must be mad to talk of sending letters by balloons. It needed some considerable amount of explanation to assure the unfortunate man, who by degrees awoke to the realization of the calamities which had befallen his country and family, and this almost brought back his malady. The doctor, at any rate, was made to realize from the unbounded surprise of the poor fellow how greatly things had changed within three months.

OFFICIOUSNESS.

The officious male friend jumps up on the smallest provocation and hovers about, insisting on doing everything for his victim she does not want done at all, or that she wants some one else to do, and succeeds in making her life a burden to her for the time being. He spills the wine or coffee in his struggle to hold her glass or cup; cannons against her in his endeavor to wrest from her the light chair she is dragging after her, with a pretty affectation of carrying burdens that she knows becomes her; insists on giving her a footstool which makes her seat uncomfortable, and over which she trips when she gets up; and takes her down to supper or her carriage before any one else can offer, when she is praying in her heart for some other man, half way across the room, coming toward her now to perform that pleasant office,—some other man to whom she has a tender word to say, and from whom she hopes to hear one yet more tender. In a word, he makes himself a nuisance, and spoils the poor creature's whole pleasure by his officiousness, when he meant only to do her a service. But this is just the way with your officious people; they always mean to do well, only they never manage to succeed.

TRAIN.

The N. Y. Tribune says: Lives, or lived there ever, a man with such an immense talent for breaking into jail as our eloquent friend, Mr. George Francis Train? Only the other day, it was reported to us from France that George was missing; and very well he might be so reported, for he was even then the inmate of a cold and gloomy dungeon (subterraneous, for aught we know,) and was possibly carving G. F. T. on the walls of his cell with one of his clanking fetters. His place of retreat is the Lyons bastile. If the French authorities suppose that they are doing him any harm by locking him up, they labor under a lamentable mistake. He grows great upon imprisonment. He dotes upon persecution. He emerged from the Irish bastile a much bigger man than he went in. To be let severely alone would cause him intolerable anguish. George will now probably appeal to the American Minister, and claim to be a citizen of the United States; for when he finds it convenient he is apt to sink his cosmopolitan character. Sometimes he is Chinese, anon Irish, now French, and then American. Indeed, if our memory serves us, he has even figured as a full-blooded American Indian. If the Washington Government is bound to get him out of all his scrapes, there should be a Department expressly for the purpose; but we don't think it is.

THE CROWN PRINCE'S NEWSPAPER CARRIER.

Some time back Lieutenant Hoffman, Twelfth Company Royal Grenadier Regiment, being at the Crown Prince's, happened to speak of what went on at the outposts, what houses were in front, and of the people they saw, whereupon his Royal Highness in a laughing way observed, "I wish you would bring me a late Paris newspaper out of one of them." The young officer said nothing, but when next he was on duty he went out in advance of the sentries, and in the dusk he managed to enter a house within a few hundred yards of Valerien, which was occupied by an Englishman. The apparition of a Prussian officer, revolver in hand, was startling, and the demand for the last Paris paper equally astonishing in its way. "Needs must," &c. The paper was procured and carried off with an addition, for the master of the house entreated the officer to receive some wine in order that he might say to the French that the foray had been made for the sake of drinkables. I tell the tale as it was told me. It is an illustration of coolness, tact and daring, and of a desire to serve his Prince, on the part of the Prussian officer, which will no doubt be appreciated duly.

BLEEDING GAUL.

Thiers is reported to have said, two months ago, that France was utterly ruined. The New York Herald gives statistics to show that, whether Thiers ever made the remark attributed to him or not, France has been a most terrible sufferer, financially, by the war, and even to the brink of ruin. The sum alloted by the Chambers in August, one thousand millions of francs, is already gone. Before the war with Prussia, France expended more than a quarter of her yearly income to pay the interests of her public debt, and at the time her three per cents. were worth seventy four francs in the hundred. Now that they have fallen as low as forty-five francs, an outlay of more than half her entire income is inferred. The public losses by the war, as summoned up in the official papers of Bordeaux, have been, to November 1, ten thousand million francs, to which a private loss of half as much may be added. This staggering amount has been taken right out of the substances of the nation within the last six months, and when it is added to a public debt which also absorbs one-fourth the revenue of the country, the nation may be considered as not far from the ruin of which M. Thiers spoke.

SOME OLDISH THINGS.

Sardis, the primeval city of Asia Minor, says the Pall Mall Gazette, is to be called into life again. Supposed to have been founded by the Phœnicians, and to have been alluded to by Homer, it is historically known as the capital and residence first of the Lydian kings, later of the Persian satraps. Being burned down successively by the Kimmerians, the Greeks, Antiochus the Great, and half destroyed by an earthquake under Tiberius, it was always rebuilt again, until at last, probably since the days of Tamerlane, it ceased to be anything but a vast field of ruins; the remains of a theatre, a stadium, and a triple wall with towers among them, were left as a memory of the royal city, which also boasted of having been one of the first Christian communities. It seems that a railway in the course of construction between Smyrna and Kassaba is about to touch this field of ruins, and a Prussian savant now on a casual tour in those parts has taken steps to secure a methodical exploration of the whole, chemin faisant. Apart from the gain to antiquity in general which a scientific investigation of those ancient constructions must yield, there is no doubt that the Berlin Museum will obtain many a precious relic at a very reasonable rate. News has also been received from the same traveler of certain precious antique Greek statues, immured in a more or less damaged state in the mediæval castle of Pergamus, which could very easily be acquired. Thus a colossal statue was discovered there the other day, in the most perfect preservation, but had, in default of a North-German man-of-war to take it home, to be covered up again.

SOUND ADVICE.

The Spirit of the Times, edited by Mr. George Wilkes, the standard authority in sporting matters, raises its voice against the professional base ball system, which has and is doing so much to degrade the young men of the land. After alluding to the vicious evils of the system, it points out the remedy as follows: "The remedy is to confine the club solely to paying members, to the total exclusion of payees, and then to refuse to play matches with any club which insisted on producing a salaried professional player as one of its members. Let the various clubs employ as many professional players for the purpose of instructing the real members as they please; but let their be no more putting forward of paid professionals as bona-fide members of the clubs, and qualified to play in matches. The other system is at once fraudulent and foolish. It pretends that the paid players are members of the club, standing on the same footing as the other members, which is not true. And it places the real members in the position of those inferior animals who foolishly go a-hunting with the lion. They do all the work, and suffer all the damage, he has all the sport, and devours the whole of the prey."

NOSOLOGY.

Napoleon I, in referring to the capacities of officers for high command, is reported to have said, "give me a man with plenty of nose," and it is asserted that the most distinguished generals of the first empire were well provided with prominent nasal organs, as may be conspiciously observed in the collections of their portraits. On the other hand it is now argued that there is the greatest difference between the physiognomies of the heroes serving under Napoleon I and those under Napoleon III, and that the eagle features proverbially belonging to all great captains of both ancient and modern times, from Alexander and Caesar down to Napier and Wellington, are not visible in the countenances of the French generals and officers who commanded at Wissemburg, Sedan, Strasburg and Metz. The principal of "eagle features" of successful captains however, does not appear to be illustrated by the countenances of the victorious German generals, for their faces, judging from the reports of physiognomists, do not possess the characteristics of military genius.

DOG OWNERSHIP.

The London Echo advises Englishmen to be careful in taking compassion on stray or starving dogs, and cites the case of a man who was fined six dollars for not having taken out a license for a starving dog which he had fed occasionally. The dog which really belonged to a butcher did not sleep at the man's house, but in consequence of receiving food from him, constantly followed him about. The Echo expresses surprise at this decision, and doubts whether the giving a meal or two to a starving dog ought to be construed into an adoption of the animal. The above is one of the curious cases which frequently arise under a harsh construction of the English internal laws, and shows how such restrictions operate to the annoyance of the citizen.

OHIO.

JIM BOYER, a negro, dropped dead, apparently, while engaged in butchering, at St. Clairsville, Monday morning. He fell while attempting to shoot a hog. On Tuesday morning his body was still warm, and perspiring. It is a singular case, and medical men are unable to account for it.

FRANK KANE, charged with murdering T. A. Horn, was convicted of manslaughter, in Belmont Common Pleas, last week, and sentenced to the Penitentiary for three years. Emmit Likes was convicted of cutting Pat Tucker with a knife and sentenced for one year. Tucker is to be indicted for assault.

A LADY at Zanesville, O., in cleaning house recently, found a package of two pounds of powder, and, thinking it was lampblack, she threw it in the fire. Her husband thinks she escaped, as nothing has been heard of her since, except a piece of calico dress, which was found on an apple tree in the orchard.

ON Wednesday of last week, Philip Getzman, of New Philadelphia, was running across the Public Square to overtake the mail agent in order or give him a letter, when all at once his legs refused to move, and he was compelled to sit down in the snow until some persons carried him in the house. Upon examination it was discovered that his leg was broken just below the knee. It seems that when Mr. G. was about eighteen years of age, he cut his leg at the place where it is now broken, and the probability is that it has been diseased ever since, though it has never caused any trouble heretofore.

THE New Philadelphia Advocate tells the following good story: "About the largest speculation in lumber we have heard of lately transpired here on Tuesday last. A certain young man, who shall be nameless here, had been carrying on a correspondence with the New York manufacturers of bogus greenbacks, and on the day named above called at the Express office to get his first instalment of $30,000, on which there was a charge of thirteen dollars. He planked over his money and took his box, which was nicely done up, and as the New York man in his letter to him said, 'nobody in the world would believe it contained money.' It didn't contain money either, for upon opening it the sole contents were a big pine chip and an old newspaper. We have no sympathy for the young man—it may perhaps be a lesson to him—but advise him that the less he says about the matter the better for him."

THAT gold is being g found in the quartz rock discovered at Nelson Ledges, says the Garrettville Journal, we believe is no longer a question. Since our last issue several more experiments have been made and resuting in the finding of gold. In one instance a specimen procured in this vicinity was examined and gold procured from it without recourse to the smelting process. This specimen did not come from Ledges but was said to have been found near here. Several parties have been actively engaged in leasing land on all sides of us and have secured all that could be obtained. Many farmers refuse to lease, prefering to await further developments. No returns have been received from the rock shipped to Chicago. A report has been put in circulation that a crushing mill had been purchased and shipped, but we think there is no truth in the statement. Mr. Baldwin has not received returns from the sample he sent to New York, but is in daily expectation of the report and when received we will give it to our readers. The only question in regard to the matter now seems to be is the gold in sufficient quantity to pay for working the mines?

THE Ohio State Journal, describing the Thanksgiving dinner in the Ohio penitentiary, has the following: Col. Burr made a few remarks, stating that in common with all the people of the land, they had met to observe Thanksgiving Day. He wanted this done as though all men were one family. That is, this Thanksgiving dinner should approach as near to the Family Thanksgiving as it was possible to have it. All in prison had much to be thankful for. There had been freedom from sickness and there had been no calamity. He stated that on this occasion the rules would be relaxed, the men could converse with each other and carry away from the table such articles of food as they did not wish to eat now. After prayer by the Rev. Mr. Newton, the men commenced eating at the tap of the bell. At first no one spoke. These silent men did not talk at once. There was for a time an absolute bashfulness all along the line. Then some one whispered to Joe to pass the sugar, and Joe whispered back, "Which is Bill?" and some one remarked on the bigness of the cake, and some one else had something to say about the coffee, and gradually the conversation buzz rose up to the cheerful dinner standpoint. The men enjoying the new freedom, the dinner, and the rest that came afterward, with some gentlemen, made after dinner speeches. Then with the remains of the good dinner in their pockets or hands, the men at two o'clock P. M. went again to work.

A PROSECUTION that has attracted considerable attention throughout the State has just been decided in the Blair county Court. We take the report of the proceedings from the Altoona Sun, as follows: "The case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania vs. George Morrow, et al. employes of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, charged with worldly employment on the Lord's day, commonly called Sunday, was decided by Judge Taylor, and if his decision holds, it is an important one for railroad companies and their employes. It appears that the parties prosecuted above were employed on the Fast Freight and Emigrant trains, and were arrested on the information of soxie malevolent spirit, who cherished enmity to the Pennsylvania Railroad, and took this method of wreaking his spite. Unfortunately, his Honor settled the appeal in a summary manner, and rather 'fornenst' the prosecutor. In his charge he said 'our Father counseled that we should attend to works of necessity and mercy on His day,' and surely the transmission of emigrants as rapidly as possible to their destination whose tickets in many instances were purchased in this country and sent to them, who have no money to pay boarding, is a work of mercy. As for the Fast Freight they came into town at four o'clock in the morning for the purpose of laying over until Monday morning, the Company using their best endeavors to keep the Sabbath. Surely they should not be punished for that, etc. The case will in all probability be taken to the Supreme Court. Blair for Prosecutor, Hall & Neff for Defendant."

Cure of Consumption.

The cure of a disease of a consumptive kind necessarily prompts a doubt in the mind, as most people have been taught to believe it of an incurable nature, and as long as this is believed to be the case people will be loth to do anything for its relief, rather trusting to the merciful doings of nature than to bad doctoring. Dr. Keyser reports two well marked cases of pulmonary disease, one on Liberty street, and the other in Manchester, both these persons, if applied to, will substantiate the facts in a way so forcibly as to put all doubt out of the question; yet with all this, people daily yield up their lives to the fell destroyer, accounting themselves vanquished at the first approach of the disease. What we say to persons of a consumptive habit, or with the disease fastened on their system, is that it costs but a trifle to try a bottle of Dr. Keyser's Lung Cure, which will convince more than columns of advertising. The Doctor makes the medicine, and if you wish, can examine your lungs from top to bottom, and accurately point out their unhealthy places. He may be seen from 9 A. M. until 1 P. M., at his new office, 167 Liberty street, Pittsburgh. If your druggist does not keep it send five dollars to Dr. Keyser, and he will send four bottles securely boxed, by express, with full directions how to use it.

PARALYSIS.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, county of Isabella, ss:

Personally appeared before me, a Notary Public, in and for said State, Jonathan Ritter, of Salt River, Isabella county, Mich., who being by me duly sworn on oath, says that he had for twenty-seven months been so severely afflicted with rheumatism that he was unable to labor, and for the last eleven months previous to visiting the Magnetic Well could not dress or undress himself, or even step without the aid of crutches. From his stomach down to his feet was completely paralyzed, having no feeling whatever in his feet or legs. That after bathing in and using the waters from the Magnetic Well at St. Louis, Mich., for one week, was able to walk without crutches, and was free from rheumatic pain, that he is feeling well and regularly attending to his business; that his age is 39 years. JONATHAN RITTER.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 7th day of March, A. D. 1870.
ALBERT D. RUST, Notary Public.

Sold at JAMES E. BURNS & CO'S Drug store, corner of Penn and Sixth streets.

Habitual Constipation.

HOW TO EFFECT A CERTAIN AND PERMANENT CURE.

Some occupations of life predispose to Costiveness, especially those which allow but little exercise. Persons who contract this unfortunate habit of body, under such circumstances, might possibly be relieved by changing their sedentary employments for others of a more active kind; but this is by no means certain. Habitual constipation is a very obstinate disorder. All the ordinary so called remedies invariably aggravate it. Nothing can be more injurious than the continued use of strong aperients. They at first irritate, and finally almost paralyze the bowels, rendering them so torpid that enormous doses of cathartic medicines have no effect upon them. A mild aperient, combined with a gentle stimulant, is the true remedy; and a combination in the happiest proportion, of these ingredients, is found in Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. This famous Stomachic invigorates the whole intestinal canal, while quietly removing from its convolutions all impediments to a free passage through them. No mere purgative has this double operation. No ordinary stimulant effects the desired object. Cases of Constipation abandoned as hopeless by distinguished medical men have been cured in a few weeks by the Bitters. To those who have tried all the medicines of the dispensary in vain, we say try this irresistible stimulant and aperient. There is no sufficient reason why constipation should be the consequence of sedentary habits. Hostetter's Bitters, by supplying the vigor which would otherwise be derived from exercise, will in all cases enable the system to perform its excretory functions regularly and healthfully.

THE DAILY GAZETTE.

MONEY AND COMMERCE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, Dec. 3, 1870.

As indicated in our report of last evening, the money market is more active, and the rates for loans is a fraction higher. Borrowers are beginning to look forward to the general settlement day on the first of the year, and are already providing against its wants. There is, therefore, freer offering of paper, in bank and upon the street, and lenders are naturally disposed to take advantage of the increased demand, to put up the rates of interest.

The local stock market is devoid of any features of special interest. Orders for Allegheny Valley 7-30 bonds were hard to fill. Holders have got their ideas up, and are asking 92. Later in the day a concession of ¼ of one per cent. would have been made. The stock changes hands but rarely. The parties owning the controlling interest, it is said, are "talking down" the stock, for the purpose of buying in the few hundreds of shares that have not, by the same process, already fallen into their capacious maws. $35 per share was bid to-day for one hundred shares.

There has been but little doing in Bank shares the last half of the week. Prices, however, are well maintained. The street brokers are anxiously hunting up stray lots of Columbia oil, ranging in bids according to the customer they may waylay, from $11 to $12 50 per share—asking price $13 50@14. The new well is reported at over 100 bbls daily. If it holds out, as we certainly hope it may, holders of the stock need not be eager to sell at $14 or $15.

Sales of Dalzell are reported in Philadelphia at 37½ cents per share. We have yet seen no notice of the expected dividend.

The Eastern market continues quiet in all its branches. Gold is stronger, and closes this evening at 111¼. Government bonds are a fraction better in some instances, but the market is inactive. Railways are heavy, though our later advices, per wire, exhibit a small improvement.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 3, 1870.

Business in Wall street, in all departments, was scarcely ever so dull. Gold is strong but not active, opening at 111, advancing to 111¼, and closing at 111. Carrying rates 1@2 per annum. Clearances $[illegible]. Governments steady and unchanged. Money strong at 5@6. Stocks active and stronger, except Rock Island. State securities dull. Bank statement unfavorable, as will appear in the following exhibit: The banks lose nearly $1,[illegible] in legal reserves; loans, increase $1,[illegible]; specie, decrease $[illegible]; circulation, decrease $[illegible]; deposits, increase $[illegible]; legal tender, decrease $[illegible]. Great interest is manifested in the forthcoming reports of the President and Secretary of the Treasury. The only point of interest in the former to financial men is the Alabama question. The money market was active and stringent at one time during the afternoon, and the rate on call was 7 per cent. to stock brokers; toward the close easier; could be had at 6.

PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, December 3, 1870.

Dullness ruled supreme to-day, on Duquesne Way, notwithstanding the two facts, viz: navigable river to the oil regions, with plenty of actual oil arriving, and the existence of a formidable "bull" movement on the upper creek. We never remember to have seen a day more marked for inactivity and lifelessness, the "coons" on the creek being utterly impotent to arouse the dormant energies of our Pittsburgh oil men. We learn to-day that the engineers of the "corner" on the creek are trying to effect settlements of contracts at about $3 25 per bbl., when actual oil on the cars is offering freely at about $2 [illegible] to $[illegible]. Of course, no short is willing to settle at such absurdly fictitious rates, and for this reason the "corner" will prove a fiasco, as all such movements should do. It is these affairs, generally inaugurated by outside, and irresponsible parties, that tend to bring the oil trade into disrepute with the banks, and uptown merchants, and for this reason, if not for the higher one of principle, all dealers and others connected with the legitimate oil trade, should unhesitatingly frown down all such attempts to influence the markets. We trust and believe that Pittsburgh has gone through its last "corner" in oil, and we are glad to record the fact, that none of our denizens are in any wise connected with this one.

PITTSBURGH MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, December 3, 1870.

As a rule trade is rather sluggish and there are but few exceptions, though business usually slacks up somewhat at this particular season of the year. There is a moderate local demand for most of the leading commodities and a fair volume of business in the aggregate, while in regard to values there are no important changes.

APPLES—The receipts continue liberal and with a supply considerably in excess of the demand the market is rather slow though prices are fully maintained. We continue to quote at $2 50@3 per bbl, for common to prime.

APPLE BUTTER—The supply of choice fresh receipts is small, and this kind would sell at 70@75c. Common does not seem to be wanted at any price.

BUTTER—Sales of prime to choice at 28@30. Common and inferior is in good supply and exceedingly dully.

BROOM CORN—The supply is comparatively light but there is no change in prices, 5@7 cts. as to quality.

BEANS—Continue dull and in good supply but unchanged, at $1.50@2.25 per bushel, the outside figure for prime navy.

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR—Is reported dull with occasional small sales at $7@7¼ per bbl.

BEESWAX—We are reported small sales at 35@36 cts; this seems to be more than it will bring in New York and a round lot would hardly bring the above quotations here.

CHEESE—Is quoted at 13½@14, for Western Reserve; 15@15½, for Ohio Factory, and [illegible] for Ohio Goshen.

CRANBERRIES—Demand light, prices irregular and unchanged, ranging from $10@13 per bbl, according to quality and size of barrels.

CARBON OIL—Standard brands in new barrels, 30½@31, in a jobbing way, 23@23½ for small lots.

COAL—Sales of Anthracite at $9@9½ per ton by the car, delivered.

CEMENT—Sales Louisville Hydraulic at $3[illegible], and Calcined Plaster at $4½ per bbl.

CIDER—Is dull and in good supply, but unchanged; $6@8 per bbl.

DRESSED HOGS—Unchanged, at 7½@8c, dull.

DRIED FRUIT—Peaches in limited supply and firm but unchanged; small sales at 7½@8½ for quarters, and 11@12 for halves. Apples quoted at 6½@7¼. Blackberries, 13@14.

EGGS—Pickeled eggs are in good supply and being sold at 27@28, but strictly fresh are scarce and we are reported sales at 31@32.

FEATHERS—No. 1 live geese feathers may be quoted at 80cts to the trade, and 83@85c in small lots.

FLOUR—The market is quiet and unchanged—demand, as usual, entirely local. We continue to quote western flours, in store, at $5.75@6.25 for spring wheat; $6@6.50 for red winter wheat, and $6.75@7 for white. Rye flour, $5[illegible].

GRAIN—The receipts of wheat seem to be increasing somewhat, but with a very limited supply in the hands of dealers, prices are fully maintained, and we can report regular sales at $1.15@1.20 for red, and $1.30@1.35 for white. Oats quiet and unchanged; 43@45c buying, and 46@47 selling, that is for round lots. The receipts have been comparatively light for several days, but there is improvement in the demand, notwithstanding the impression is gaining strength that prices are not likely to be much, if any, lower. New Corn is in steady demand and limited supply, and is selling readily at 66c on wharf and track, and 68@70c in store. The stock of old Corn is pretty well reduced in this market, but there is not much inquiry for it. Rye is quotable at 80@85c in first and second hands—we are cognizant of two sales within the week at 85c. Barley is dull and neglected but unchanged; 80@90c for spring, and 90@1 for fall—nothing but strictly No. 1 will bring the outside quotations.

GROCERIES—The grocery market is moderately active, as there is a continued fair city and country trade, while in regard to prices, there are no changes whatever.

COFFEE—Choice Rio, 22; Prime, 21½; Good 21; Fair, 20; Ordinary, 18½@19; Java, 28; Laguayra, 22. Roasted Coffee loose, 23; in papers, 24.

SUGARS—New Orleans, 11@11½ for old, and 12½ for new; Porto Rico, 10½@12; Cuba, [illegible]; Box Sugars, 11@12; Demerara, 12[illegible]. Refined—Standard Hards, 14½; A, 13½; B, 13½; Ex C, 13½; C Y, 12¼.

SYRUPS—Havemeyer & Elders, 85; Loverings, [illegible]; other brands, [illegible].

RICE—Carolina, 7½@8.

MOLASSES—New crop New Orleans, 80; old, 60; Porto Rico 60@70; Demarara 75.

FRUITS—Layer Raisins, $3.25; Valencia do 15c; Currants, 13½c; New Prunes, (1870 crop,) 14½ cts.

HAY—Is being sold from country wagons at $18@25. Sales of baled, on wharf, at $16@17.

HONEY—Sales at 28@30 cts.

HOMINY—Quoted at $5.00@5.50 per bbl.

HUSKS—Sales at 3@3½ cts.

LIME—Sales of Cleveland at $2.25 per bbl and eastern at $1.75.

MILL FEED—Sales of middlings at $1.50@1.75, according to quality. Seconds may be quoted at [illegible].

ONIONS—Very dull; may be quoted at $2.75@3.25 per bbl, as to quality.

POTATOES—Scarce and in good demand, and we can report regular sales of Peach Blows at $1.00 per bushel.

PROVISIONS—The Cincinnati Price Current in referring to the hog market, and its product, remarks: Feeders and dealers are greatly disappointed in the prices, and part with their stock at them with a feeling a good deal like as if they were parting with them for nothing, and therefore they grasp eagerly at anything which holds out a hope that the market may take a turn in their favor; and for this reason, it is not remarkable that even the dim prospects of a general European war, growing out of the Russian question, induced them to withhold their hogs from the market. The demand for the product has been light and irregular, notwithstanding that prices are relatively lower than those paid for hogs. At points in the interior, the prices being paid range from $5.75 to $6.00 gross, and even at these rates packers look unconcerned, owing to the great abundance of corn and hogs. [illegible] throws great uncertainty over the future, not so much because of the increase in the winter packing, but the probable increase in the summer packing. The almost entire absence of orders from England is another discouraging feature.

POULTRY—The receipts are increasing, though the supply, as yet, is by no means large; we now quote live chickens at 50cts per pair, and dressed at 12@13cts per lb. Turkeys, live, $1@1.25; dressed, 14@15cts.

PEANUTS—Sales of new crop at 6@8.

RAGS—Quoted at 4@4½.

SALT—Is quoted at $1.60@1.65 by the car load, with the usual advance for small lots in store.

SEEDS—There is very little doing in cloverseed here; and it may be quoted at $6.25@6.50 in small lots. We notice that it has advanced in Cincinnati and Chicago within a short time past. Flaxseed is scarce and wanted at $2.10@2.12 per bushel.

TALLOW—Rendered, at 8½@8¾c.

TURNIPS—Very dull and in good supply; may be quoted at 30@35c per bushel.

PITTSBURGH CATTLE MARKET.

EAST LIBERTY STOCK YARDS, SATURDAY, Dec. 3, 1870.

FREIGHTS.

On and after Monday next, 5th instant, freights on live stock will be advanced, as follows:

	Cattle.	Hogs.	Sheep.
Philadelphia	$80 00	$90 00	$81 00
New York	100 00	110 00	90 00
Baltimore	80 00	80 00	81 00

RECEIPTS STOCK.

The receipts of stock at the Central Yards for the week ending to-day, were as follows:

	This week.	Last week.
Cattle	198 cars.	204 cars.
Hogs	170 "	202 "
Sheep	92 "	90 "
Horses	9 "	9 "
Mules	5 "	4 "

CATTLE.

As will be seen the receipts of cattle this week were six car loads less than last week; 198 cars against 204. Notwithstanding the arrivals were comparatively light, the supply was pretty well up to the demand, and the market was rather sluggish throughout the entire week, and all grades ruled lower. Commonish cattle were particularly dull, as the number of buyers for this particular kind was unusually small, and, as already noted, the better grades, also moved very slowly. Seven and a half cents was the highest price reported this week, against sales last week at 8@8¼, though, taking the quality of the cattle into consideration, there was not this difference in prices. The sales since the date of our last report were as follows:

HOGS.

As will have been noted, there has been a very material falling off in the receipts of hogs this week, 170 car loads, against 202 cars last week, a decrease of at least 3,000 hogs. While there has been a fair business during the week, there has been less excitement, and within the past forty-eight hours, prices have advanced fully ¼ of a cent per pound, and to-day, there were but very few in the pens unsold. We now quote York hogs at 6¼@6½; and Philadelphia hogs at 6¾@7 cts., against 6½@6¾, on Thursday. The feeling among operators in regard to the future of the market is conflicting; it is thought, however, that the advance this week will cause increased receipts next week, as there are large numbers in the west ready for market and holders generally are anxious to realize.

Messrs. E. H. Myers & Co. report having purchased during the week, some 1,400@1,500 at an average of about 6¾. Messrs. Harbaugh & Co. have not yet entered the field, though it is probable that they will commence buying within the next few days, providing the weather is favorable for slaughtering and prices sufficiently low to suit their views.

SHEEP.

The arrivals of sheep were fair, 92 car loads against 90 cars the week preceding; the supply although not a large one was about equal to the demand, and in view of the advance in freights, which goes into effect on Monday, buyers generally bought more liberally than they would otherwise have done. As compared with last week, there is not much change in prices, the great bulk of the sales being made within the range of 3@5 cts. Two car loads of fine wooled Ohio sheep brought 5.35, and one bunch of fancy averaging something like 110@115 lbs, sold up to 5.80. There were but very few sales above 5 cts., and not many even at that; 70@75 lb averages quoted at 3@3½; 80@85, 3½@4¼; and 90@100, 4½@5¼.

Erisman & Co. report having bought 33 car loads for shipment to New York, at prices ranging from 3@4½.

RIVER NEWS.

The river continues to recede steadily, with five and one-half feet in the channel. Weather yesterday clear and warm.

There has been no arrivals since the date of our last report. The Julia was due last night, and will doubtless be found in port this morning.

The Carrie Brooks departed for Zanesville on Saturday evening, as did also the Oceanus, for St. Louis. The latter boat had a fair trip, and all she wants engaged below. John Ferguson and James McDonald are the pilots on the Oceanus.

The Brill, Capt. Dan. Moore, is filling up steadily, and will be the first boat out for Nashville.

The Henry C. Yeager is filling up steadily for New Orleans.

River was rising at Louisville on Friday night, with 36 inches in the chute.

The Kate Putnam, Great Republic and Nick Wall, the two latter en route for St. Louis, and the former for Pittsburgh, left Memphis on Friday.

Cumberland river rising on Friday, with 36 inches on Harpeth Shoals.

Col. B. K. Byrd, of Kingston, has purchased the steamer Mary Bird, which now lies in thirty feet water below Chattanooga. The price paid was $800. The Colonel intends raising her, and putting her in thorough repair.

The Glendale departed for St. Louis on Saturday with about 700 tons on boat and barge, and engagements below including 100 tons at Steubenville. She left here drawing a little over 4½ feet. Wm. Oakes and Henry Haney are her pilots to Cincinnati.

The Mary Davage also departed for St. Louis on Saturday with a good trip. Pilots Leander Patterson and Nick Whitten.

The Kate Putnam from New Orleans, passed Vicksburg on the 28th.

—The Cairo Bulletin, of Thursday, says: A large number of steamboat changes occurred here yesterday. The Idlewild took the place of the Arlington, in the Columbus and Cairo trade, while the Arlington went to Mound City, to go on the ways to repair. The charter of the Arlington has been extended to March 15th, 1871, when the new boat will be ready. The Tyrone took the place of the Idlewild in the Cairo and Evansville trade. The Ella Hughes took the place of the Tyrone in the Paducah and Cairo daily line, until the Armada makes some repairs to her machinery.

—A Memphis dispatch of Thursday says: The Great Republic went up this evening, thirteen days out from New Orleans. She left 1,500 bars of railroad iron at St. Francis Island, discharged 1,800 here, and will reach Cairo without difficulty. The snagboat Abert is working at the Richmond, this evening. She is badly aground at Island 40. The Arthur tried, but failed to relieve her.

—There were negotiations going on, yesterday, for the purchase by Mr. R. S. Semple, for other parties, of five-sixteenths of the steamer Potomac. Nothing was consumated, however. The Potomac will not re-enter the Cincinnati and Wheeling trade, but may run south from here. Indeed her first trip will probably be to Memphis and New Orleans.—Cincinnati Gazette.

—The Winona Republican, of November 18th, says: Navigation closed last year on the 16th of November—latest date on record. The Addie Johnson was the last boat to leave this port, departing on the 16th. The ice did not cease to move, however, until Monday morning, the 26th, about eight o'clock.

—The Andy Johnson, Rob Roy and Harry Johnson are to enter the St. Louis and New Orleans trade, and the Rock Island, City of Pekin, Bayard and Illinois will take their place in the St. Louis and Keokuk trade.

—A proposition is being discussed about the feasibility of running a packet three times a week from Paducah to Dover, on the Cumberland River.

—The price paid for the Mary Ament was $12,000. Captain Power will either build or buy a boat to take her place in the Chilo trade.

—Five-sixteenths of the Potomac were sold at Cincinnati on Friday for $18,500. She will probably enter the Memphis trade.

—Captain Boardman's line of steamers will be known as the "New Or'eans and Red River Boardman Iron Line."

—We understand that the strike is over in the Pomeroy coal mines.

A. W. EASTLAKE, Observer.

Tuesday's Gazette will contain the President's Message in full.

Real Estate and Stocks.—Attend the sales this evening at A. Leggate's Real Estate and Stock Exchange, 159 Federal street, Allegheny.

Allegheny Schools.—A stated meeting of the Board of School Controllers of Allegheny City will be held to-morrow, Tuesday evening at 7½ o'clock, at City Hall.

The alarm of fire at six o'clock, Saturday night, from box 62, Allegheny, was occasioned by a slight fire in the rear of the First Presbyterian church, Union avenue. The fire was extinguished before the engines arrived.

Notice.—All warrants on the City Treasury, properly signed by the Mayor, and countersigned by the Controller, will be paid as soon as presented at this office.

A. J. COCHRAN, City Treasurer.

Notice.—The members of The Pittsburgh Association for the relief of the poor, are requested to meet on Monday afternoon, Dec. 5th, at two o'clock, in the Lecture Room of the First Presbyterian Church on Wood Street. Mrs. LEVI WADE, Secretary.

Yesterday afternoon, two little wanderers, a boy aged about four years and a girl apparently two years old, were picked up on Ohio street, Allegheny. They found quarters at the residence of Mr. Valentine Hoffman, 175 Ohio street, where their parents can secure them.

Forty-Six.—There were forty-six men and women in the lock-up Saturday night, forty-six headaches Sunday morning, and forty-six persons required to contribute to the support of the city, or board a few days with Warden Sandrett. The majority of the forty-six contributed.

Dr. O'Leary's Last Free Lecture Postponed till Wednesday Evening.—The Dr. was telegraphed for Wednesday night to attend an important medical case at his home in Brooklyn, N. Y., and in consequence the last Free Lecture will not be delivered before Wednesday evening. WILL H. MARTIN, Agent.

Interesting to Landlords.—As this is the time of year when landlords are thinking of sending notices to their tenants, it will be well for them to remember that Judge Pearson, of Harrisburg, has recently decided that a landlord's notice to a tenant for possession of property is not legal if dated on the 1st of January. It must be dated no later than the 31st of December.

Printers Reception.—We acknowledge an invitation to attend the Printers' Annual Reception at City Hall, on the evening of January 3d, 1870. The gentlemen having the arrangements in charge are making unusual exertions to render the reunion one of the most select, enjoyable and pleasant of the season, and such an affair as will prove creditable to all engaged in the art typographical.

Dedication.—Yesterday the new Presbyterian Church in East Birmingham was dedicated with interesting exercises. There were three public services during the day, Rev. F. A. Noble in the morning, Rev. Dr. M. W. Jacobus in the afternoon, and Rev. S. F. Scovel at night. The services were attended by large congregations. The church is a handsome specimen of architecture, and was built at a cost of $80,000.

Pleasant Wedding Occasion.—Our highly esteemed young friend Mr. Benjamin F. Shakespear, of this city, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony last week at Dover, Delaware, to Miss Emma L. Heverin, an accomplished young lady of the latter place, and daughter of James L. Heverin, Esq. Many guests were present from this city and the wedding was very pleasant and fashionable. The happy young couple have our best wishes and heartiest congratulations.

An Error.—There is a general impression abroad that the City Treasurer is responsible for the financial difficulty now existing, to which we referred a few days since, which impression is erroneous. The Treasurer, under the operations of the Barton ordinance, has not control of the city funds, and can only disburse money on the order of the Controller's warrants properly signed by the Mayor, and countersigned by the Controller, and not otherwise. He announces, as will be seen by his card this morning, that all warrants will be paid as soon as presented.

Insane.—Saturday evening during service in the Cathedral, the congregation while at worship were surprised to see a stranger walk up into the pulpit and commence to deliver a rambling discourse. It was evident from his manner that he was either drunk or insane. An officer was called and the man was arrested and taken to the lock-up. He is [illegible] for several years, but it was only recently that he became violent. The subject upon which his mind appears to be troubled is that of religion. He became so violent in the lock-up that it became necessary to put hand cuffs on him.

The Paper.

This morning's issue of The Paper contains full reports of the services and sermons in the various city churches.

Crushed to Death.

An accident resulting in the death of John Kerr, a coal miner, occurred on Saturday evening, near Turtle Creek, at Oak Hill Coal Works No. 2. Mr. Kerr was in the Pit at work, when a mass of slate or "horseback" became detached from the roof of the pit, and falling upon him crushed him to death. He was extricated as soon as possible, but was dead when the body was taken out. Coroner West was notified, and held an inquest on the body, the jury returning a verdict in accordance with the facts.

Obituary.

Yesterday morning, calmly and peacefully sank to her long, long rest, Mrs. Jane B. Fortune, the esteemed and accomplished wife of our well-known fellow-citizen, George Fortune, Esq. The deceased lady was beloved and respected by all who knew her, and her passing away from earth to eternity will cause many bitter tears to course adown the cheeks of those who loved her for her true womanly virtues, her motherly kindness and generosity, her unceasing charity towards suffering and distressed humanity, and for the many fine traits of character and good qualities of heart which rendered her pleasing to all, endeared her to those who met with her in social life. A faithful and loving wife, an indulgent and affectionate mother, and most worthy and consistent friend is mourned in her death, and to her family especially would we offer our consolation in this, their hour of dark sorrow and bereavement.

Collections of Internal Revenue.

It is announced that the Treasury Department has issued a new series of regulations, which will greatly facilitate the settlement of the accounts. Heretofore, the accounts could not be settled until all the taxes in the current list had been accounted for either by the cash or by allowed claims for abatement. The unpaid taxes for which the outgoing officer was held responsible had to be collected by his successor, over whom he had no control. This plan in actual practice retarded prompt settlements, and in many cases extended the responsibilities of the securities for several years after the principal had gone out of office.

The new regulations provide that when the outgoing collector shall produce evidence of due diligence in attempting to collect all taxes remaining in his hands, such taxes shall be credited in his account as uncollected, and shall be transferred to the charge of the incoming officer. Particular instructions are given in regard to the manner in which the transfer of the office shall be made, and the respective duties of the outgoing and incoming officers.

Real Estate Transfers.

The following deeds were admitted of Record in the office of Thomas H. Hunter, Esq., Recorder of Allegheny county, Thursday, Dec. 1:

PRIMARY ELECTIONS.

Republican Nominations for Councils and Ward Offices.

Primary elections were held by the Republicans in the wards throughout the city Saturday evening, except in those wards which had prior to that time made their nominations, and which have been published. There was a decided interest manifested throughout the city, and a much larger vote polled than was anticipated, at every precinct. In some of the wards nearly the full strength of the Republican vote was out, and in some instances the contests were exceedingly warm, yet as is customary at Republican primary elections, peace and good order prevailed, and to-morrow a full Republican vote will be polled throughout the city for the candidates.

THE SIXTH WARD.

Probably no where in the city was there such excitement during election hours on Saturday as at the Sixth ward polls. The principal contest was between John Flinn and Thomas Neely for nomination for Select Council. Both parties and their friends had been at work for several weeks and the culmination was the most exciting and interesting contest ever held in the ward. No disturbance took place, however, beyond the usual noise, bluster and confusion consequent upon such a warm political fight, and notwithstanding the fact that some ill-feeling was engendered, it will rapidly disappear and on to-morrow the Republicans will come to the polls in solid column and elect their whole ticket by their usual large majority. So heavy was the vote polled, that there being no count before closing, the officers did not get through till three o'clock next morning, and yet a large crowd was at hand eager to learn the result, which between the gentlemen mentioned was exceedingly close. The following is the vote:

SHARPSBURG.

Joint Teachers' Institute.

Mainly through the energy of Prof. Geo. T. M'Cord, Principal of the Sharpsburg Union Schools, a large number of the teachers of the place mentioned, and vicinity, assembled in the Presbyterian Church, last Friday evening, for the purpose of organizing a Joint Teachers' Institute.

Professor M'Cord, in his usual happy manner, welcomed the teachers and friends of education, congratulating them on the growing interest manifested in educational matters.

Prof. A. T. Douthett, County Superintendent, was, on motion, elected President, and Rev. M. B. Sloan, of the School Chronicle, and Wm. T. Lindsey, of West Liberty, were chosen Secretaries.

On taking the chair the President expressed himself as highly gratified at meeting so many teachers and others interested in the great cause of Common School education. He contrasted the present with the past, remarking that he well remembered the time when an attempt was made to organize just such a meeting in the town of Sharpsburg, but the cold walls of a little old dilapidated school house, and a still colder public feeling, was the only greeting extended those who were interested enough to come. But he was happy to say now, that that day had past, and he hoped would never return.

Rev. A. Caldwell now led in prayer, after which the Union Choir sang a song of welcome.

Rev. W. C. Falconer was introduced and delivered a highly interesting and beneficial lecture on "Labor and Amusement," in which he took occasion to condemn the amusements so common and popular, such as the drama, balls, billiard and card playing, and other social enjoyments.

Most excellent music was again discoursed by the choir.

Miss Lena Mulhattan followed, reading an essay on "Work Among the Little Ones." The audience was held spell-bound as the essayist so beautifully, and at the same time so feelingly, described the training of the little child, not only for time, but for eternity. The first thing she would teach a child is reverence for God and His Holy Word; after that a love for his country. She would tell him the beautiful story of Moses, and the lesson to be learned therefrom, and hundreds of other useful lessons in the Bible; of the patriotism of the gallant boys who sleep at Gettysburg and elsewhere, having died for the country and institutions they loved so dearly; of the immortal Lincoln who suffered martyrdom for the elevation of mankind. Teach him these and you educate him to be a man, and he will not require the brutal punishment of the rod.

Another song by the choir and the following question was taken up for discussion: "What is the Parent's Relation to the Teacher?" The debate was energetically and warmly participated in by Messrs. Sloan, Hamilton, Gibson, McCord, Falconer and Douthett.

The pupils sang "Good Night" and the Institute adjourned to meet at nine o'clock next morning.

SATURDAY MORNING'S SESSION.

The Institute was called to order by the President, and after the audience had sung "Beautiful River," prayer was offered by Rev. Colhower.

Mr. T. T. Taylor, of Etna, lectured on "Universal Education." His subject was handled in a manner that exhibited a familiarity that would have done honor to an older and more experienced speaker.

"Meet Me by the Running Brook," a duett, was sung by the pupils of the school.

The question, "Should Attendance at School be Enforced by Law?" was then taken up for general discussion. Rev. M. B. Sloan, of the "School Chronicle" opened the discussion, urging strongly the necessity of the enactment of such a law. He was followed by McCullough, Rev. Ewing, Patterson, Keller and Douthett.

A further discussion of the question was postponed until the afternoon session.

The following persons were appointed a Committee on Resolutions: McCullough, Taylor, Miss Russell, Snodgrass and Miss Mulhattan.

Prof. A. Burtt lectured on the subject "How Language should be Taught." The first thing a pupil should be taught is the correct use of words. Three-fourths of the pupils leave our schools, ignorant of the meaning of some of the commonest words to be met with in the newspaper. We attempt to teach too much. If the teacher has not the time to teach language, which its importance demands, he should throw out Algebra, or some other study of less importance. Reading he considered one of the best means of improvement in the use of language.

The school sang "Mt. Vernon Bells" and a recess of one hour was given.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The afternoon exercises were opened by the singing of "Fairy Bells" by the pupils of the Sharpsburg Schools.

Rev. E. M. Wood was introduced, and lectured on the following subject: "Woman as a Student and Teacher." His address was so full of interest and importance to the teacher that it was solicited for publication, and will soon appear in print: hence no comments are necessary.

Miss Lucinda Naely now delivered a lecture on "Geography." The manner in which she treated the subject at once showed her to be perfectly at home on the interesting topic. The lecture was well received by the audience.

The question of compulsory attendance at school was again taken up and discussed, ably and eloquently, by Douthett, Caldwell, Falconer, and others.

The Committee on Resolutions then made the following report:

WHEREAS, Teachers Institutes properly conducted, are efficient means of importing practical instruction to teachers and also awakening an interest in the public sentiment favorably to our common school system; therefore,

Resolved, That it is the duty of teachers and all interested in the cause of public education, to countenance and maintain Institutes in their respective vicinities.

2nd. That the neglect of parents and directors in the visitation of schools, is highly detrimental to the advancement of pupils and greatly discouraging to teachers.

3rd. That as thousands of children, of proper age, never attend school, any legislation compelling their attendance should be hailed by all virtuous and intelligent citizens as beneficial to the public good.

4th. That the thanks of the Institute are due, and are hereby tendered to our worthy County Superintendent and also to G. T. McCord, Principal of Sharpsburg schools, for calling and conducting the Institute; also to all others taking part in the exercises of the Institute, and also to the citizens of Sharpsburg and vicinity for their hospitality in entertaining teachers from abroad, and also to the session of the Presbyterian congregation for their kindness in granting us the use of their church.

There was quite a lively discussion on the 3d resolution, but it was finally adopted.

The President announced that a Teacher's Institute would be held at Oakdale, December 27 and 28; also one at Tarentum on the third Friday of January.

The doxology was sung by the audience, and after the benediction had been pronounced by Rev. Falconer, the Institute adjourned.

Amusements.

OPERA HOUSE.—The engagement of Mr. Emmet at the Opera House during the past week has been one of the most successful of the season, and doubtless he will continue to draw full houses throughout his engagement, which runs for two weeks longer. "Fritz, our cousin German" will be presented this evening.

LIBRARY HALL.—The present season has been remarkably prolific of musical entertainments, of a high order, principally vocal however, and to complete the programme we are to have the Theodore Thomas Concert, which promises to be the grand musical event of the season. Mr. Thomas' troupe comprises forty-five of the leading artists in the country, and among the number is Miss Anna Mehlig, the charming pianist. The season includes five grand concerts, commencing Wednesday evening next, and including a grand matinee Saturday afternoon. The tickets to the matinee are one dollar each, and there will be no extra charge for reserved seats.

VARIETIES.—Miss Kate Fisher closed her engagement at the Varieties Saturday night, on which occasion the house was filled. The announcement for the present week is an exceedingly brilliant one, and will doubtless draw full houses. Among the celebrities announced we notice Brown and Sanford, the men of the iron teeth; Signor Loando, the famous juggler; Miss Martha Wren and Jimmy Rollins, the popular vocalists and Mademoiselle Rigil, the premier danseur; John Shaw, Benedict and others.

ACADEMY.—This evening the grand military allegory of the "Drummer Boy of Shiloh," which was produced at the Academy on two former occasions with such marked success, will be re-produced with new scenery and tableaux, and we have no doubt from the interest manifested that it will prove a success.

Aldermanic.

The contest for the office of Alderman in the Fifth ward will be an exceedingly warm one, to-morrow, and we would call the attention of all law abiding citizens in that ward to the necessity of casting their votes for a man suited in every respect for the position. The Republicans have placed in nomination a man who is in every way fitted for the office and one who will discharge the duties, if elected, with credit to himself as well as to his constituency. We refer to Mr. Smith, the present Assistant Warden, with whom we have been personally acquainted for several years and know whereof we speak.

AWFUL.

A Child Burned to Death.

An awful calamity occurred at Mansfield, a village located about nine miles from Pittsburgh, on the Pan Handle Railroad, yesterday evening. A rumor prevailed in the city, after dark, that a whole family had been burned to death in that section, and we immediately despatched a reporter to the scene of the terrible calamity. He learned that it was not so serious as at first reported, and yet was horrible enough in its character. It appears that after dawn last evening Mr. Peter Stahl, a well-to-do farmer, left his happy cabin, after tea to visit a neighbor. Remaining behind him were his wife and a bright-eyed son, four years old, in whom he centered much pride and affection, being his only son. The mother with soft song lulled the child to sleep, and, carefully covering him beneath the sheets, stole out to milk the cows. She had hardly been ten minutes away from the side of the cradle till a lurid light in the direction of her home shot up to illumine the horizon. She appreciated the situation at once.

HER CHILD WAS IN DANGER.

With hurried, trembling, faltering footsteps she hurried back to the lonely cabin to find the fierce flames bursting forth on all sides and to realize that the innocent, prattling boy she had laid so recently in the cradle, was doomed to a death most horrible. Her wild screams attracted many stalwart men to the rescue, but, alas, the tender box of wood and shingles in fiery flame, rapidly dissipated any hope for the recovery of the precious jewel of life and blood encased therein. Boards of the cabin were knocked in by strong arms, but the pent up angry flames dashed out, defying the efforts of those bent on saving the little human life so fearfully jeopardized. The child perished. When the mouldering gave out, the citizens invaded the ruins, and, with a bore witness to a fact that a tender offspring, a bright, innocent youth, had fallen prey to the dreadful element. In a happy, innocent, dream, perhaps, the little lad awoke among angels of heaven. The father returned to find his flesh and blood, the idol of his expectation, reduced to undistinguishable bones, to ashes, to nothing. The mother was crazed. The coroner was promptly summoned to hold

HANDFUL OF BONES

AN INQUEST.

But to what purpose? None. There were the smouldering remains. There were the father and mother! There was a half handful of bones representing the departed child. Was there evidence needed to prove the terrible affliction of the parents? Was there evidence needed to prove that an awful calamity had occurred? No. The jury found a verdict of an accident by fire. What else could they find? A threshold blighted forever, a child gone to eternal rest. An accident most painful; and yet, what a moral it teaches. Let no parent leave a child incapable of help alone in the house. The example conveys a lesson. Will prudent parents heed?

PROBABLE HOMICIDE.

A Drunken Man Strikes His Daughter on the Head With a Crowbar and Fractures Her Skull.

Whiskey, the cause of nine-tenths of the crimes committed in the country, and which, directly or indirectly cost the taxpayers of this county over $3,000,000 annually, is responsible for one more crime, which may probably result in a homicide in which case the accursed stuff will have been the cause in this case of sending one soul into eternity unprepared and jeperdizing the life of another. On Saturday evening Patrick Freel, an old man whose head is grey, and from his general appearance is at least sixty years of age, maddened by drink, in a moment of excitement struck his daughter, Nancy Freel, a woman about twenty years of age, on the head with a crow bar, crushing her skull and inflicting injuries which may prove fatal. It appears from what we can learn of the affair that Freel is intemperant in his habits, and has not for some time, lived pleasantly with his wife and daughter. He had been absent from home for a week, and returned Saturday night intoxicated when a quarrell ensued, which resulted as above. The difficulty commenced in the house, which is on Mulberry alley, in the Twelfth ward, and by some means the father and daughter got on the porch, when the former seized a heavy iron crow bar and struck his daughter on the head. She fell to the floor insensible, and the alarm was given by some children who witnessed the transaction. The police came in and arrested Freel and took him to the Twelfth ward station house, where he remained for several hours, and was then removed to the central station, where he still remains. Dr. Brashear was called to see the girl immediately, and finding that it would be necessary to perform a critical surgical operation, had Dr. Asdale called to assist him. The operation of trepanning was successfully performed, and the injured woman was still alive last evening, but there were no hopes entertained of her recovery.

SUDDEN DEATH.

Stranger Dies Suddenly at The Drover's Home—Coroner's Inquest.

Friday evening last a stranger came to the "Drover's Home," a hotel on Liberty street, in the Twelfth ward, and took lodgings for the night, and the next morning he was found dead in his bed. The man was, so far as known, in good health when he retired, and it was thought by some that he might have committed suicide. Coroner West was notified of the circumstance Saturday morning and held an inquest on the body. Dr. Gilmore was called in to make a post mortem examination and testified to the jury that in his opinion death resulted from natural causes, and the verdict was to that effect.

Mr. Alexander Aiken, undertaker on Fourth avenue, took charge of the body and interred it yesterday. He retained the clothing of deceased which may probably lead to the identification of the man. There were no papers upon his person from which any clue to his identity could be gathered.

QUARTER SESSIONS COURT.

December Term—The Jail Calendar.

The December term of the Quarter Sessions Court commences this morning. The term will, it is thought be an unusually large one, but there are no cases of any great importance yet returned.

THE JAIL CALENDAR.

The Jail Calendar for the term is not so large as it was last term, and there is not a prisoner in jail charged with murder. The calendar shows that there are forty-two persons in jail for trial on various charges. Larceny appears to be the prevailing weakness of our criminals, as the calendar shows twenty-two cases. Next in order is felonious assault and battery, of which there are seven cases. Assault and battery 4; bigamy 1; aggravated assault and battery 2; burglary 3; highway robbery 1; larceny as bailee 1; adultery 1; false pretence 2; keeping disorderly house 2; forcible entry 1; misdemeanor under the livery act 1; surety 3; desertion 1.

Drs. L. & T. L. Oldshue,

Drs. L. & T. L. Oldshue.

I am much better. I can walk five or six miles with ease. Before taking your medicine I could not walk half a mile. Send me more medicine. Yours,

NOVEMBER 5, 1870.

Another says:

Drs. L. & T. L. Oldshue.

Send me another supply of medicine. The last you gave done me more good than all the medicine I have yet taken. It stirred me up pretty lively sometimes, and as for the pills, they are doing their work. Yours,

And another writes:

Drs. L. & T. L. Oldshue.

I am well satisfied with the medicine you sent me. I am much better, and desire to continue under your treatment.

Yours truly,
